FAILURE BRINGS ON DIRE MELANCHOLIA

Beautiful Girl Is Found Hidden in Attic of the Washington University Club

IN GRIEF ON DAY OF THANKS

Ill Health in Convent and Inability to Enter Sisterhood Breaks Her Courage.

After worrying four months over her failure to become a nun, Anna Crowley, a maid employed at the Washington University Club, Twenty-ninth and Locust strets, became slightly demented, Thursday morning, and hid herself in the attic above the third floor of the clubhouse.

Her absence was noticed about 7 o'clock and search was immediately begun by the police under orders of Capt. Joyce of the Manchester avenue station.

About 11 o'clock Mrs. Flora Smith, wife of the club manager, concluded to search the garret, and in a corner under the rafters and behind some boxes in the dark the body of Miss Crowley was seen. She was silent when spoken to and at first it was thought she was dead.

When the boxes were removed and Miss Crowley was reached she refused to leave the spot. She was lifted from between the timbers. A physician was summoned and she will probably be sent to a sanitarium for treatment.

Upon being awakened in the morning by her sister, Lucy Crowley, with whom she was rooming on the upper floor of the clubhouse, Anna Crowley said she was too ill to work, and at first declined to get out of bed, but, upon persuasion, she dressed herself, ate breakfast and almost immediately afterward disappeared without a word of warning.

Eight years ago Miss Crowley came to the United States from Ireland. Nearly three years ago she entered a convent at Leavenworth, Kan., where she spent two years, preparing herself for the sisterhood.

Upon this ambition all her interest centered, and when, after 24 months of study, she was obliged by poor health to abandon her hopes of being a sister, she became afflicated with melancholia.

Learning of her sister's plight, Lucy Crowley came from Ireland to take Anna back with her, but was unable to persuade the discouraged girl to accompany her, so both girls remained in this country. In July they came to St. Louis and found employment at the club.

Of late Anna has been acting strangely, and the culmination came Thanksgiving morning when, feeling she had little to be thankful for, she hid herself from the eyes of her associates.

She is a handsome young woman with blue eyes and dark hair, 23 years old.

Robs Mail Pouch; Leaves Checks.

Postoffice Inspector Bunsen spent part of Thanksgiving Day at Oelwein investigating the robbery of a mail pouch found in [illegible] there last week. The pouch was last seen at St. Joseph, Mo., when placed aboard a train. It contained letters for points in Texas, California and the West. A razor was used in cutting open the sack, and the thief left checks aggregating $40,000 undisturbed, evidently fearing detection if he attempted to cash them. Chief Postoffice Inspector Dice has the case in charge for the government.

MERCURY TAKES SHARP FALL

Frost Warning Comes After St. Louis Temperature Has Gone Down to a Minimum of 16 Degrees.

A general frost warning was sent out from Washington Thursday morning just as a new cold spell descended upon St. Louis.

The official thermometer showed that a minimum temperature of 17 degrees above zero was reached at 6 o'clock, after which a rise of one degree occurred.

The official forecast for St. Louis is:

"Fair and continued cold Thursday and Thursday night; fair and warmer Friday."

The temperature grew steadily colder during Wednesday night, the 8 o'clock reading being 28, and the 5 a. m. reading being 18.

Seventeen degrees was shown at 6 o'clock and 7 o'clock, and 18 from 8 o'clock to 10 o'clock.

The frost warning includes North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi and Florida.

CHILD BEGS FOR FATHER'S FREEDOM

Little Girl Is Granted Permission to Visit Convicted Man at the Jail

Wounded by the taunts of her playmates, little Sallie Turner, aged 13, appealed to Judge Moore of the court of criminal correction to have her father released from jail Thanksgiving Day.

Judge Moore ordered a violation of the jail rules to permit the little girl to visit her father in prison.

The father is Martin Turner, who was convicted of grand larceny. The little girl lives with her mother at 2007 Biddle street.

Following is her letter, which Judge Moore received Thursday morning:

"Dear Judge: Please be so kind as to turn my papa loose for Thanksgiving Day. He is not such a bad man, and all the other girls are laughing at me and say my papa is a thief. Please, Judge, let my papa out just for today and I will be awful glad. SALLIE TURNER."

Being unable to grant the request, Judge Moore wrote his permission on the back of the letter for the little girl to visit her father in jail, against the regulation prohibiting children to visit.

The meeting between father and child was pathetic.

MATCHES IN POCKET HIS LIFE PRESERVER

Bullet Directed at Man's Heart Stops With Small Abrasion of Skin.

VOLLEY SCATTERS A CROWD

Real Estate Dealer Arrested on Charge of Shooting Bartender and Endangering Others

Walter Johnson of East St. Louis is giving thanks for the presence of a lot of matches in his right-hand vest pocket.

But for those matches, he is quite sure he would be spending Thanksgiving day at a hospital with serious looking doctors probing into his anatomy in search of a revolver bullet.

As it is, he has only a slight abrasion of the skin, a hole in his clothing, and the splintered matches to show that he was shot.

Silas P. Chapin is charged with the shooting, and is under $500 bond for his appearance for trail. Chapin, a prominent East St. Louis real estate man, living at 626 North Seventh street, was arrested at his home shortly after the shooting.

Roy de Forest and Rooney Louis, two well-known East St. Louis young men, have promised to appear as witnesses. Other witnesses are F. C. Rayburn of Anna, Ill., and William Heinze.

Johnson is bartender in a saloon at Collinsville and Illinois avenues. Early Thursday morning, Chapin was standing in front of the saloon, talking to Rayburn. Johnson and Heinze were in the barroom. De Forest and Lewis approached the corner and stopped.

DeForest and Louis say that Chapin angrily ordered them to move on. When they refused to do so, Chapin, they say, raised his cane and struck at DeForest, who caught the cane and took it from him. Chapin then drew a small revolver and fired. The bullet missed and Louis and DeForest ran.

Johnson and Heinze went out of the saloon to learn the cause of the trouble and Johnson told Chapin to leave the corner. Chapin said, according to Johnson:

"You want a little of it, too, do you?"

He fired again. The bullet passed through a lapel of Heinze's overcoat, struck Johnson's cloth jacket just over the pocket on the right side, penetrating through a number of matches, and through Johnson's two shirts, lodging against his skin.

Chapin and his companion ran. Chapin was arrested at his home a short while afterward, and immediately gave bond.

TOOK DAUGHTER FROM HOME.

Woman Reports Her Husband's Second Disappearance.

Mrs. Daniel Long of 532 South Garrison avenue has reported to the police that her husband has deserted her, taking with him their 6-year-old daughter, Gertrude.

Monday, Mrs. Long says, they had a quarrel, which ended in his taking the little girl and leaving the house. Three children were left with the mother.

Mrs. Long says her husband has deserted her once before. She believes he has gone to Alton, where he has relatives.

WOMAN HAS BECOME LOVING FOSTER-MOTHER TO BABE WHOSE MOTHER FLED FROM HER ON A TROLLEY CAR

MRS. MARY BRIEN AND "BABY OLIVE"

GIVES THANKS FOR TROLLEY FOUNDLING

Little "Olive" Has Become Angel in Home to Which She Came by Strange Chance.

TOOK HER ON STREET CORNER

Fight for Baby's Life Won by Foster Mother, Who Now Treasures Her.

"No woman in this country will give thanks today with a heart more full of gratitude than mine."

In these words Mrs. Mary Brien, living on Chambers and Walker roads, north of Baden, told of her joy in the foundling baby girl, Olive, who came to her on a Broadway car two months ago.

Mrs. Brien met a well-dressed woman with a baby on her arm at Olive and Broadway one evening two months ago. The two women fell into a conversation concerning the child, and both boarded a northbound Broadway car.

After riding some distance together the woman asked Mrs. Brien to hold the baby. Mrs. Brien took the child in her arms without hesitation.

The thought never entered her mother-heart that a woman could desert her child. The baby was wrapped in a piece of carpet. In her interest in the child she did not notice the woman rise and walk down the aisle.

The little one was plainly ill and Mrs. Brien soothed and fondled it with all of a mother's care. Mrs. Brien is the mother of six children, but she was not alarmed when she saw that the mother had deserted it. The baby nestled trustingly into her arms and woke again the mother-love in her heart.

She saw that the little waif was fast losing its slender hold on life. She hurried home and sent for a physician. His verdict confirmed her judgment. The doctor said that there was only a slight possibility that the baby would recover.

Then Mrs. Brien began the fight for the life of the foundling. For two weeks she hardly left the cradle, and with prayers and medicines she fought the battle with death and won.

"It seems to me that an angel has entered our home. Olive is now very healthy and is actually getting fat. She is the best-natured child I ever saw.

"I saw a woman on a street car one day who told me that babies were too much trouble. She had a lap dog. I told her that childless mothers did not know how much happiness they missed in not visiting a foundling home.

"I had often read in the papers of these foundlings that were picked up on the street, and I always said that I wished one of them would come to me. My prayer has been answered and I am happy."

GEN. REYES IS ON WAY TO WASHINGTON

Colombia's Chief Military Man Goes to Intercede for His Government.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 26.—Gen. Rafael Reyes, representing the government of Colombia, who is on his way to Washington to intercede in behalf of his government in connection with the recognition of the republic of Panama, arrived here on the steamer Beverley today. He leaves for Washington tonight.

Gen. Reyes is accompanied by Gen. Pecllo Aspinal, Gen. George Holequin and Gen. L. Cabalerro. They boarded the Beverley at Port Limon and came direct to this city.

Gen. Reyes and party did not go to any of the hotels. They drove to the Louisville & Nashville offices and bought tickets through to New York and made every effort to avoid publicity. The general had a satchel full of Colombian gold and paid for the tickets in coin of that republic. Gen. Reyes speaks English perfectly, but declined to be interviewed. He said to the Associated Press:

"We do not wish to be quoted at this time. Our mission is a private one, and until we have reached Washington and discharged it we do not care to discuss it."

CAT'S SCRATCH KILLED HIM

Death Came in Five Days to Man Injured by Animal He Had Shot.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PATTERSON, N. J., Nov. 26.—Samuel Dykstra died today as the result of a cat's scratch received five days ago.

Dykstra shot a cat which was annoying his family. He went to the yard and kicked what he supposed was its dead body. The animal sprang at him and scratched his leg deeply.

No attention was paid to the wound at first, Latre, some home remedies were applied, but these did not bring relief and Dr. J. C. McCoy was called in. The leg was much inflamed, and, on Sunday afternoon, the patient was sent to the hospital. From the ankle to the knee the leg was much swollen and inflamed.

Dykstra was by this time delirious, and his pulse was rapid and weak. That night he was taken to the operating table and three incisions were made for the purpose of removing the accumulations of pus. The patient sank rapidly and died.

The diagnosis gives pyemia, supplementing cellulitis, as the cause of death.

Won Bride in "Zeenzeenattah."

"Vos you effer in Zeenzeenattah?" was the question that Judge Robert Carroll asked of Walter Clifford of the "Prince of Pilsen" company when he and Miss Rose La Harte of Cincinnati came to his office to have the marriage ceremony said. The bride has recently closed an engagement with the "Fisher Maiden" company. She came to St. Louis to become a Thanksgiving bride.

'POSSUM CAUSES STATION STAMPEDE

Visitor From Bonnot's Mill Turns Toothsome Animal Loose on the Midway.

A Thanksgiving dinner that will not be eaten down at Bonnot's Mill, Mo., created a stampede in the Union Station midway Thursday morning.

The uneaten dinner was in the shape of a nice fat, gray-furred, gray-whiskered, rat-tailed opossum, the property of Henry Clay Perth, who was on his way to his home in Bonnot's Mill with the live morsel when it got away from him and created the stampede.

Opossums are not as plentiful at Bonnot's Mill this year as they have been in the past and folks down that way allowed they wasn't going to have such a feast as they had been used to having on this great day.

Their fears were set aside, however, when Henry Clay Perth announced a few days ago that he was going up to St. Louis and that he bet he'd get all the 'possum he wanted. He said things were so nowadays that you could get anything in the city when you couldn't get it in the country, whether it belonged in the country or not.

Folks said Henry Clay was right because they argued, anything you couldn't get in St. Louis you couldn't get anywhere in the civilized world. So they awaited Henry Clay's home-coming with a great deal of joyful anticipation.

Perth, after looking around for several days, finally located the object of his search in a cage sitting out in front of an uptown butcher shop. He priced it, fingered it, weighed it, and then bought it, fur, whiskers, tail, cage and all.

Perth started for Union Station about 9 o'clock Thursday morning to catch his train for Bonnot's Mill. He arrived in plenty of time and set the caged opossum down in the midway, after which he viewed it from every side with admiration and joyful thoughts of what the Bonnot's Mill folks would say when they set eyes on it.

When Perth turned his attention to train time his Thanksgiving dinner made its escape from the cage.

Down the midway and into the men's waiting room fled the fleet-footed opossum, with Perth in hot pursuit. Over feet and under benches flew the animal, and nearly a hundred men took up the chase. Women screamed when they saw the rat-like tail, and men fell over each other in their efforts to catch the runaway. Perth was yelling at the top of his voice to save his dinner, and finally Barney Frauenthal rushed out of his office just in time to catch the fugitive, which was making for the door leading out to the midway.

Perth, in the excitement of the chase, missed his train, and will miss Thanksgiving dinner at home.

Burglar Suspect Arrested

Charles Pepper of 2324 Morgan street is under arrest on suspicion of being the burglar who robbed the residence of George Scalling of Kirkwood of $1000 worth of jewelry Monday night. None of the jewelry was found in Pepper's room, but it is charged that Pepper was in the vicinity of the Scalling home a short while before the robbery.

MAKES FATAL JUMP FOR HIS BRAVADO

St. Louis Workman, Wanting to Show Companions, Miscalculates Distance and Falls 30 Feet.

Henry D. Freese of St. Louis is thought to be dying in Venice, as the result of a miscalculation of the distance between two houses, between which he attempted to jump to convince his fellow-workmen that it could be done.

Freese is a tinner and was engaged on repair work in Venice with a party of local workmen. They wished to cross from the house on which they were working to one four feet distant. Freese suggested jumping. The other workmen commented upon the danger, while Freese laughed at them. He attempted to make the jump, and, failing to clear the space, fell two stories, 30 feet, to the ground. He alighted on his head and shoulders and is not expected to recover.

THE GLORIES OF STANCOTE

Much Has Been Heard of Them, but the First Photos Have Now Been Taken.

Amid the glories of the interior of Stancote the "Blair story" had its culmination.

There never was a more magnificent setting for the tragedy of hearts breaking under the weight of exposure and downfall.

The world has heard much of these glories, but none have seen them except those who have enjoyed the hospitality of the Blairs, because until now photographs have never been taken of them.

Even before attention was drawn to the county estate of the James L. Blairs by the developments of the past few weeks, Stancote was famed far for the splendor of its interior, wrought by the combination of taste and wealth, matching well the natural beauty and landscape embellishments of its surroundings.

They will be pictured and described in the Sunday Post-Dispatch for the first time.

CRUSHED BETWEEN TWO CARS

Decatur Railroad Man Meets Serious Accident on Broadway

August M. Legg of Decatur, Ill., was caught between two cars in a collision between a northbound Broadway and a westbound Page avenue car at Broadway and Washington avenue, sustaining serious injuries. Legg is 55 years old and is a clerk in the general offices of the Wabash railroad. He was sent back to his home at Decatur Thursday morning.

TOOK THE BULLET AIMED FOR WOMAN

Aged Broker, Who Used His Body as Shield, Was Probably Fatally Wounded.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 26.—Maj. W. J. McClung, a well-known broker and clubman, was shot and probably fatally wounded last night at the Palace Hotel by Alec Garnet.

The shooting took place in the rooms of Mrs. Lilly Hitchcock Colt, who is famous as the only woman ever actively connected with the local fire department. In olden days she ran to fires with firemen and was later elected a member of the company.

Garnet was her business agent in m'nor matters and Mrs. Colt had a disagreement with him a few days ago that resulted in his dismissal from her employ. Maj. McClung, who is an elderly man, was visiting Mrs. Colt when Garnet appeared in an intoxicated condition. He drew a revolver and attempted to shoot Mrs. Colt, when McClung attempted to save her and received the bullet intended for the woman. Garnet escaped.

ZIEGLER WILL PLAY FOR TIME

Millionaire Baking Powder Magnate, Accused of Bribery in Missouri, Fights Requisition.

When Gov. Odell of New York convenes the hearing of the case of William F. Ziegler, controlling stockholder of the $20,000,000 Baking Powder Trust, for whom a requisition on an indictment charging him with bribery in connection with the alum baking powder scandal in Missouri, at Albany next Monday, the attorneys for the defendant will move for a continuance.

It is the purpose of Ziegler's counsel to "play for time," but Attorney-General Crow will advise against any such action. In the attorney-general's opinion there is no reason why the matter cannot be disposed of at this time.

If Gov. Odell honors the requisition Ziegler's attorneys will apply to the New York courts for a writ of habeas corpus. This will mean that evidence probably will have to be forthcoming from the Missouri authorities to show why Ziegler is desired. If the court makes such an order the entire alum scandal, it is said, will be laid bare in New York.

According to advices from Ziegler's friends the contention will be made that at the time the $8000 boodle fund was distributed among the members of the Missouri senate Ziegler was not in Missouri, nor did he have any knowledge of the transaction.

Attorney-General Crow is confident he can overcome all of these objections.

D. J. Kelley, Ziegler's personal representative, is still sojourning in Canada, safe from the extradition laws of the United States. In the event of the acquittal of Senators Farris and Matthews, on the charge of bribery, it is believed that Kelley will come back and stand trial.

GIRL SAYS SHE SAW HEAVEN IN TRANCE

There Are No Streets nor Houses There and Angels Fly Without Wings.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Nov. 26.—Mary A. Kidder has been going into trances for the last week. She professes to have visited heaven and to have conversed with departed spirits.

She has told persons with whom she is not acquainted about seeing dead relatives whom she did not know and some of whom have never been in Kalamazoo.

Mary describes heaven graphically. She says:

"The trance strikes me suddenly. I lose control of my body and seem to be carried up, up, up, to an almost unimaginable height. The air seems soft and fans my face. I fly through clouds, and then suddenly know I am in heaven.

"About me stretches a great country, but there are no houses or streets. Beautiful, white-robed angels are singing and talking and sailing through the air. I am flashed through two immense, white, pearly gates and then the beauty of the whole play is before me.

"Colors of every description and the most beautiful music are seen and heard on every side. I seem to know al the people there, and they come to me and talk. A spirit told me that when I died I would be free to move just as they do. I cannot understand how angels go through air. They have no wings, neither do [illegible]."

NAVAL BATTLES TO BE FOUGHT

Realistic Reproductions of Santiago and Manila to Be Shown at World's Fair

The battles of Manila and Santiago, the only naval fights in which modern ships of war ever engaged, will be reproduced at the World's Fair in a manner so realistic as to thrill every spectator.

Real ships, perfect miniature in steel of our own cruisers and battleships, will be manned with real crews and real guns, and maneuvered on an artificial lake.

The shore settings will be faithful reproductions of Corregidor Bay and Santiago. There will be the roar of broadsides, the reply of forts and shore batteries, the stealthy attacks of torpedo boats and submarine craft, the explosion of submarine mines and the annihilation of warships. To the onlooker the battle will be as impressive and as natural as the real engagements beheld from an airship.

The battles will be pictured and described in the Sunday Post-Dispatch.

Sale of Corner Building.

George J. Wanstrath reports the sale of the southwest corner of Tenth street and Morrison avenue, 25x125, improved with a fine new three-story brick building and a two-story brick stable, from Frederick Wilhelm, who has been conducting a market on this corner for the past 20 years, to Otto Groebl, a South Broadway butcher, for $8250 cash.

KRATZ IS STILL FULL OF FIGHT

Files Voluminous Answer With Mexican Court Giving Reasons Wsy He Should Not Be Extradited.

BY C. C. RIDER,

Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

GUADALAJARA, Mexico, via Galveston, Tex., Nov. 26.—Kratz is still fighting extradition, for which a new treaty was entered into by the United States and Mexico.

The fugitive now claims that extradition cannot be asked in his case because the papers charging him with bribery do not state specifically that he received any money.

According to the terms of the treaty, he declares a person charged with bribery must have received money, and this fact, he claims, is not shown in the papers in his case.

It is further claimed by Kratz that the alleged crime for which he is being held is outlawed; that, according to Mexican law, reciprocity must be provided for in extradition treaties and that the United States cannot offer reciprocity in his case.

Kratz's answer is voluminous, containing about 5000 words. The defense is entitled to 20 days in which to produce evidence in support of its contentions. Kratz asks for only five days.

JUST A FIGHT ABOUT TURKEY

Husband and Wife Quarrel and the Man Is Assaulted and Seriously Wounded

Thomas Stuart and his wife Mary of 1507 South Broadway quarreled Thursday morning about what should form the piece de resistance of their Thanksgiving dinner. Thomas wanted pork, but Mary maintained that turkey alone would be proper for the occasion.

Thomas seized a butcher knife and was about to carve Mary when she grabbed a bottle and struck him on the head with such force as to fracture his skull.

Mrs. Stuart spent two hours in a fruitless effort to nurse her husband back to consciousness and then rushed to the Four Courts, where she surrendered to the police, declaring that she had killed him.

A policeman found that Stuart was not quite dead and forwarded him to the City Hospital.

STEAMER CEDRIC NEARING PORT

Sighted Off Nantucket Lightship at 3:05 Thursday Morning.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—The White Star Line steamer Cedric passed Nantucket lightship at 3:05 o'clock this morning. This finally disposes of the rumor that she was run down in midocean.

BLAIR WILL KEEP INSURANCE

Suit of Mutual Life Company for Cancellation of Policies Withdrawn Without Explanation.

The Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York has withdrawn the suit filed in the United States Court to cancel life insurance policies amounting to $50,000, held by James L. Blair. No reason is assigned for withdrawing the suit.

The suit was directed against James L. Blair and Appoline M. Blair. Mr. Blair is still quite ill at the Mullanphy Hospital. In filing the suit the allegation was made that Mr. Blair was virtually insolvent when he made application for the policies, and represented his affairs very differently. It was also alleged that he made two attempts to end his life.

BURGLARS DROP $300 PIN

They Get Away With Pearls and Rubies, but Leave a Diamond-Set Brooch

Burglars entered the house of Charles Viets, 5972 Cote Brilliante avenue, during the absence of the family Wednesday evening. They got away with a gold brooch set with pearls and rubies valued at $200 and $1 in cash.

A diamond brooch containing six stones and valued at $300 was stolen off a shirtwaist in a closet, but was lost by the burglars in getting out of the house. It was found on the back doorstep.

The thieves entered the house through the back door, which had a faulty latch. They went through every drawer and closet on both floors and left the house in great disorder.

STEAMER RAMS AND SINKS LOADED BARK

Vessel, Cut Nearly in Two, Sinks Quickly With Two of Her Crew.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Officers of the steamer Denver of the Mallory line, which has just arrived from Galveston, report a collision with the bark Arabian Maid, while at sea, 30 miles off Tortugas Island, Saturday night.

First Mate I. B. Myerland of the bark and Berger Ericson, a sailor, were drowned and the bark, which was heavily freighted with lumber, sank five minutes after she was rammed by the Denver.

Eleven of the crew were brought off the wreck by the Denver's lifeboats. The bow of the steamer was injured.

Quartermaster Rudolph Nath, who was at the wheel of the Denver, stated that a very heavy sea was running, when the steamer struck the bark abaft the foremast, sundering her deck and snapping the mast off like a reed.

The lifeboats of the Denver were quickly manned and the crew of the sinking bark taken aboard the Denver.

The two victims were found wedged in the wreckage. Both men had evidently been caught in the falling rigging and drowned while entangled in the ropes.

The Arabian Maid, a steel-hulled bark of 819 tons, was owned in Norway. She was bound for Rosario, Argentine Republic, from Mobile, and was commanded by Capt. A. Larsen, a Norwegian. Larsen, who was rescued, says many of his men were in their bunks when the crash came and were aroused by the inrushing waters.

Two of the rescued, the second mate and cabin boy, were taken from a piece of wreckage just as the boy was about to sink.

The bodies of the two men who were drowned were buried at sea.

Capt. Larsen says he saw the Denver bearing down on him, but realized his danger too late to save the ship. As soon as the collision occurred the Denver backed and the bark began to drift away. Capt. Evans of the Denver ordered the Denver's searchlight into play, and in its field those on the Denver saw the bark capsize.

The boats were got out and, as the searchlight played on the wreckage, the rescues were made.

Cashed Stolen Pay Check.

L. Roudack, an employe of Swift & Co. in East St. Louis, was robbed of his pay check for $4.57 by a highwayman with a revolver near the city limits. Soon afterward the pay check was cashed at a saloon at St. Clair avenue and First street by a young man.

Euchre for Orphans' Home.

Friday afternoon at the Liederkranz Hall on Chouteau avenue, a mammoth euchre will be given for the benefit of the St. Louis German Protestant Orphan Home on Natural Bridge road.

Ensign Huessner Dismissed.

BERLIN, Nov. 26.—Naval Ensign Huessner, whose sentence for killing a soldier at Essein because he did not salute him properly, was quashed by the imperial court, has been dismissed from the service.

THERE WAS NOTHING VERY NAUGHTY AT THE "FRENCH BALL"

Not Until the Dismal End, When the Crowd Had Gone, Was There a Touch of the Risque.

ONLY 300 WOMEN PRESENT

Dissatisfied Guests at Much-Heralded Event Stand Around in Their Overcoats Until Wearied.

If there was "a sound of revelry" about the Coliseum during the French ball Wednesday night, it was but an undertone and no one heard it. That rare spirit of abandon and hilarious mirth which is ever associated with "French" balls, was conspicuous by its absence.

Mirth seemed to have sunk into what Grover Cleveland terms a state of "innocuous desuetude," and in the slang of the day there was "nothing doing." The great room was painfully quiet, and the shouts of the assembled few made lonely echoes and emphasized the dismal failure of the affair.

A man with a big brown bear capered about seeking attention, and another bearing a small monkey on a chain spent most of the evening on the floor. Both animals performed a few simple tricks and displayed more animation than the animals in clothes, who seemed lost in the solitude of an almost empty building.

Enthusiasm was on the ebb in the great Coliseum long before the hour set for the high-water mark had been ticked off.

Men, outnumbering the women ten to one, clad in overcoats and wearing their hats, as early as 1 a. m., invaded the dancing floor. Lining up like a disgusted crowd of bleacherites with the score in the last half of the ninth 12—0 against the Browns, they stood about to the number of 500 looking at nothing and waiting for something to happen.

For three hours they so stood, occasionally taking a turn about the promenade, guying the few couples who had the courage to romp about the vast desert of wax and roughly laid flooring.

At no time were there more than 75 couples dancing on the floor.

Of the women who constituted half of this number a scant score were in costume. With two exceptions their apparel was gaudy and tinsled and utterly lacking in the picturesque. Not a Parisian costume of any description was in evidence.

Of the half dozen men who essayed to mask and carry out the scheme of the evening, but one attracted passing notice. He, attired as "The Virginian," was decidedly the most striking figure on the floor. From spurs to sombrero he was complete and satisfying, the only guest in the amphitheater to bring forth applause and favorable comment.

Even he fell victim to the ennui of the night, and ere the dance was half over he disappeared, disgusted and out of pocket.

To the absence of women may be attributed the "frost." Their scarcity left nothing for the men to do but patiently await the hour of 4, when, according to tradition, a French ball waxes torrid.

At that hour, with three-quarters of those who had been in attendence already at home, two women were hoisted to the band platform and coaxed into a feeble attempt at the risque.

While the band played the closing melody the two, one a blonde in blue, the other a brunette in flowered silk, gave an exhibition of dancing.

About them, a mere speck in infinite space, gathered 50 jeering men. It was the only approach to the expected naughtiness.

The bars were deserted at all times. Sickened with the inferior liquid wares offered patrons preferred to go dry.

A bottle of "extra dry" in the hand of a waiter was the signal for the forming of a procession, which followed the garcon to his destination that the purchaser might be fully identified and made the object of raillery.

Not more than a case was on tap in the private boxes. Wine agents who had counted on an evening of conquest and advertising looked over the crowd, reproduced nightly in any beer garden, and left their samples unopened.

Tameness characterized the masquerade. The fickle public had failed to attend.

FELLOW "DRUMMERS ARE WED

Illinois Couple Meet in St. Louis and Are United at St. Mary's Catholic Church

Robert Egan, 32 years old, of Ottawa, Ill., and Miss Mary E. Lathrop, 38, of Princeton, Ill., were married in St. Louis Wednesday afternoon at St. Mary's Catholic Church on South Third street. Miss Lathrop arrived in St. Louis yesterday morning and registered at the Southern Hotel. Later in the day she was joined by Mr. Egan. They engaged Room 100. Mr. Egan was reticent about the elopment, but the bride stated that they were both traveling commercial drummers, had known each other for several years, and were being married on the quiet merely to surprise their folks.

WEDDING REPEATED IN RIGHT COUNTY

Parson's Faithful Nag Makes Record Run to Repair His Owner's Error

Rev. G. W. Horace, pastor of the Methodist Church at Edwardsville, gives thanks today for the speed and stamina of the good old family horse which he drives on his calls.

This horse helped him to correct an error which he had made in the performance of a Thanksgiving Eve marriage ceremony earlier in the day.

The parties to the marriage were John M. Cole and Miss Florence Dever of Sorento. Mr. Cole is a young business man, and Miss Dever is a daughter of Robert Dever, a well-known farmer.

Wednesday morning Mr. Cole and Miss Dever got a marriage license from A. W. Linback, editor of the Sorento Blade, who is also a deputy license clerk for Brown County.

Wednesday afternoon Cole and Miss Dever drove over to Edwardsville, which is in Madison County, and presented their marriage license to Pastor Horace at his residence. Mr. Horace did not examine the license closely, except to see that it bore the proper names, and performed the ceremony. The couple immediately drove back to Sorento.

After supper Mr. Horace took the marriage license from his pocket, and began to make his official return to the county clerk. He had barely begun when he discovered that the license was issued in Brown County, and that he had performed the ceremony in Madison County.

The speed with which Mr. Horace hitched up his horse, climbed into the buggy and started for Edwardsville has not been equaled in that section of Illinois since the time when they used to have Indians over there, and the settlers would make hurry-runs from one settlement to the other to spread the alarm. And he urged his patient ministerial horse to go nine miles at a gait that the plodding nag was totally unaccustomed to.

The newly married couple were found in the parlor with a number of friends who were extending congratulations and making merry. Mr. Horace stopped not for formalities. He told Cole of the mistake that had been made, and summarily ordered him and his bride to stand in the middle of the parlor floor while he went through the ceremony again, this time within the limits of Brown County.

Carbolic Acid in Family Milk.

CAMDEN, N. J., Nov. 26.—An attempt was made to poison the family of Charles M. Jones of this city by placing carbolic acid in a jar of milk. It was frustrated by Mrs. Jones, who noticed a peculiar odor as she unscrewed the cap of the milk jar preparatory to pouring the contents into a pot of boiling coffee.

Dutch Steamer Wrecked.

BRUNSBUETTELHAFEN, Prussia, Nov. 26.—The washing ashore of bodies and a cargo on Borkum island (in the North Sea, at the mouth of the Ems, 26 miles from Emden) confirms the report of the wreck of the Dutch steamer Anglia, bound from Hamburg for Rotterdam.

Her subject will be "If Eyes Were Made for Seeing." Mrs. Pattison will illustrate her lecture with the stereopticon.

HAD CATARRH SIXTEEN YEARS

"Pe-ru-na is the Greatest Cure in the World.

Peruna is Acknowledged as the Greatest Catarrh Remedy in the World.

Men of Prominence in the Business and Political World do not Hesitate to Endorse It.

J. H. Kelly, Sharpe, Kan., writes: "I wish to thank you for the good Peruna has done me. It is the greatest cure in the world. I have been troubled with catarrh for sixteen years. I used thirty-six bottles of a catarrh cure, but continued to get worse. My doctor wanted me to go to Kansas City for treatment, but I thought I would try Peruna first, so I got six bottles and went to taking it. I used four bottles, and am well again. I can't thank you too much for the good your medicine has done me."

A Congressman's Letter.

Hon. David Meekison, member of the Fifty-fifth Congress from Ohio, writes: "I have used several bottles of Peruna and I feel greatly benefited thereby from my catarrh of the head. I feel encouraged to believe that if I use it a short time longer I will be fully able to eradicate the disease of thirty years' standing."—David Meekison, Member of Congress.

The first cold weather is dangerous. Many people contract cold, suffer with coughs or acute catarrh during the month of November. Peruna fortifies the system against colds.

If you do not receive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

Who can compute the value of the cures Peruna is making? Who can estimate the worth of such a remedy?

Peruna has made just such cures thousands upon thousands of times. There is no nook or cranny in the whole United States, but that some one could be found who owes his life and success to Peruna, the greatest catarrh remedy of the age.

NEPHEWS HIS PALLBEARERS.

Funeral of Jonathan Rice Was Largely Attended.

Ten nephews of Jonathan Rice served as pallbearers at his funeral, held from Temple Israel. The honorary pallbearers were prominent business associates of Mr. Rice. The floral tributes were too many to be gathered about the altar, and filled many corners of the spacious hall.

Dr. Leon Harrison conducted the services and delivered an eulogistic address. At Mount Sinai Cemetery Rev. Dr. Samuel Sale made a short address at the interment, which followed the funeral service Wednesday.

GEN. BELL DEFIES COLORADO STRIKERS

Says Every Able-Bodied Man Will Be Put Under Arms if Necessary.

GOVERNOR'S LIFE THREATENED

Authorities Are Warned That a Plot to Blow Up State Capitol Has Been Formed.

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 26.—Gov. Peabody and Adjutant-General Bell have received threatening letters within the past few days. One of the communications to Gen. Bell says:

"You will be popped off if you ever come to Cripple Creek."

Another letter warns the officials of the existence of a plot to blow up the wing of the capitol where the governor's and adjutant-general's offices are located.

All such letters are turned over to a detective agency as fast as received.

No attempt has been made to guard the military officers, because no fears are entertained that any vengeance will actually be attempted in Denver.

Gen. Bell was in communication with the sheriff of Las Animas ounty for more than an hour today and the report was in circulation that troops were being placed in readiness to move on the coal fields. The reserve force numbers 500 men and they will be fully equipped within the next few days.

Gen. Bell called his stenographer into his office and dictated the following statement for publication:

"We will fight it out in Colorado if it takes every able-bodied man in the state and some who are disabled, to the end that order be maintained, and socialism, anarchy and Moyerism are wiped off the earth and there is not a grease spot left to assassinate, dynamite, molest, disturb or in any manner interfere with the commercial conditions and peace of illustrious Colorado."

Gen. Bell has given orders to have two more regiments formed in the Colorado national guard and in the course of the week he expects to recruit 600 men.

FATALLY SHOT BY ADMIRER

"Handsomest Woman in Stone County" Had Quarreled With Former Lover—Accident, He Says

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

AURORA, Mo., Nov. 26.—Miss Maude Kennedy of Galena, Mo., who was shot in the abdomen yesterday by Grover Scott, is still alive, but is is feared she will die.

Miss Kennedy, considered the handsomest woman in Stone County, had just returned from Arizona.

Scott says she had asked him to send her letters back. Instead he took them personally as he wanted to patch up the quarrel if possible. Going into the house, taking his revolver out of his pocket, and removing the shells, he entered into conversation. The young woman refused to make up with him. She turned to leave the room. He arose, placed one shell in the revolver and asked her to look around a second. As she did so, she was shot. He says the shooting was accidental. The young woman is still unconscious.

FATHER COMES OVER THE SEAS

Happiest of All Thanksgiving Days Is This Day for a Belleville Man.

Herman Zierer of Belleville is celebrating his happiest Thanksgiving Day.

His father, Jacob Zierer, who arrived in New York Tuesday from Germany, will arrive in Belleville in time to spend Thanksgiving night.

Herman Zierer has not seen his father since he came to America, ten years ago. His other brothers came to America and have since died. The father remained in Germany with his wife until she died a few months ago.

When Herman Zierer learned of his mother's death he wrote his father to come and live with him.

The father is 72 years old and has lived in Germany all his life, but he decided that he would rather spend the remaining years of his life with his son in the new country than alone in the old.

When the old man arrived at Ellis Island he was detained by the immigration authorities. He told them his destination and they telegraphed his son to know if he intended taking care of his father.

When Herman Zierer received the telegram he was greatly agitated. Mayor Kern wired the authorities at Ellis Island and Zierer's father was released at once.

COULD NOT BRIBE CASHIER.

Waiter Whose Clothes Were Filled With Stolen Bottles Tried in Vain

Loose-fitting trousers that suddenly became tight-fitting, revealed Lee Rose, a waiter, as a pilferer of wines and whisky from a restaurant at Seventh and Market streets.

Miss Dollie Young, the cashier, asked Rose about the change in the fit of his clothing, and he offered a bottle of wine and half a dollar to say nothing. She reported him and several bottles of wine and whisky were taken from the legs of his trousers. Rose was arrested.

Sealed Verdict Kept Till Friday.

The bond of secrecy imposed upon the jurymen hearing the suit of Edward Neubert for $6000 damages from Lucien Duthiel Cabanne for injuries received by himself and child in a collision between Cabanne's automobile and Neubert's cart, will extend 36 hours after the verdict is reached. The verdict was returned after the adjournment of court Wednesday evening and was sealed, to be opened Friday morning.

JUDGES PREJUDICED, SAYS W. J. STONE

Senator Wants Change of Venue in His Suit Against County Judge Chrisman.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 26.—Frank P. Walsh, attorney for Judge G. Lee Chrisman, has been served with notice today that William J. Stone, United States senator for Missouri, would in the Circuit court make an application for a change of venue in his lawsuit against Judge Chrisman.

In this suit Senator Stone alleged that Judge Chrisman, by misrepresentation, induced him to invest $10,000 cash in the old Kansas City Times, and Senator Stone seeks to recover that amount. The suit was filed in the court of Judge Shannon C. Douglass.

Senator Stone now makes application for a change of venue out of the county, and he declares under oath that he believes that Judge Douglass and each of the other four judges, mentioning each of them by name, is so completely under the influence and control of Judge Chrisman that not one of them would give him a fair and impartial trial.

THANKSGIVING REUNION.

Mrs. Nereza Merve Arrives From Syria to Join Son on Holiday.

After a 40 days' journey Mrs. Nereza Merod, a widow, joined her son, Thomas Merod, in St. Louis on the morning of Thanksgiving Day, coming from far-off Syria.

For 20 years the mother lived alone in her house on the outskirts of Mount Lebanon, and finally her son sent her the money for a ticket which would bring her to him in his new home. Thomas Merod lives on Cerre street, between Sixth and Seventh streets, and took good care that his mother was greeted in her native tongue when she reached Union Station.

SWEETHEART WED, HE ENDS HIS LIFE

Body of Thomas E. Purcell Found in Hotel Turkish Bath Room.

The cause of the death of Thomas E. Purcell—whether heart disease or carbolic acid poisoning—will not be officially determined until the holding of an inquest.

The young man was found dead on a cooling cot after a Turkish bath at the Lindell. Under his cot was an empty bottle of carbolic acid, but his father, Police Sergeant Thomas W. Purcell, declares his belief that heart failure, and not carbolic acid, was the cause of death.

G. T. Grisebell, manager of the bathroom, says Purcell, who was 26 years old, told him a few days ago that he was depressed because of the recent marriage of his sweetheart to another man.

Two physicians who were called to attend Purcell after an attendant had found him unconscious refused to give the cause of death, and the body was turned over to the coroner, who permitted its removal to Sergt. Purcell's home at 2640 Caroline street.

Young Purcell was a bookkeeper in the employ of a realty company, with offices in the Missouri Trust building. He was at his desk Wednesday until 5:30, when he went to the Turkish bath. His associates say he had been drinking for several days, since he had learned of the marriage of his sweetheart.

Sergt. Purcell says his son was affected with a weak heart, and believes that the exhaustion of a Turkish bath brought death.

The young man was a private in Troop K, Second United States Cavalry, for three years, and saw service in Cuba.

QUARREL AFTER FRENCH BALL.

Guests Mix Up Over Possession of Carriage and Are Arrested.

An argument over the possession of a carriage after the French ball at the Coliseum Wednesday night resulted in the arrest of William J. Watson, a promoter stopping at the Southern Hotel, and W. L. Dees of 3016 Locust street. They are charged with disturbing the peace.

Watson told the police that when he decided to go home Wednesday night he stepped into a carriage beside the door. Dees came up and claimed the carriage. While the two men were quarreling a policeman appeared. They will have a hearing Friday morning.

STREET CAR ACCIDENTS

Two Men Fell From Platforms and One Was Thrown From Wagon in a Collision

While stooping over to save a basket of apples from falling off the rear end of an Olive street car near Leffingwell avenue a man supposed to be Robert Dutton lost his balance and when picked up was unconscious and suffering from a fractured skull. A letter addressed to Robert Dutton was found in his pockets. There also was a letter signed by H. Rothwell of 4147 Russell avenue. The injured man is about 50 years old. He is at the City Hospital.

William D. Hoffmeister of 7320 South Sixth street, fell from a Broadway car at Pestalozzi street. His right shoulder was dislocated and his collarbone fractured. He is at the City Hospital.

John Haas of 1116 Dillon street, was seriously injured at Tenth street and Clark avenue when a Cherokee street car struck his wagon. He received internal injuries and scalp wounds, and one of his ribs was fractured.

MURDERER STRUBE SOUGHT NEAR ALTON

Deputy Sheriff Barry Confident That Havana Fugitive Was at Alton Livery Stable.

Deputy Sheriff Barry of Havana, Ill., declared in Alton Wednesday that he believed Fred Strube, wanted at Havana for the murder of Miss Hemmingel, was hiding in the Missouri bottoms opposite Alton.

Barry came to Alton to investigate the report that a man answering Strube's description was in Alton recently. His investigations convinced him that the report was true, and that it was Strube who, as was told exclusively in the Post-Dispatch, "put up" at Seibold's livery stable.

The man supposed to be Strube lodged a vehicle with many queer appliances, which answered the description of the one in which he was last seen near Havana. This vehicle was seen and examined by many persons in Alton, who did not know until later that it probably belonged to a murderer.

The deputy sheriff has left Alton, and is following the clew which the strange vehicle furnished.

WHAT SEVEN WOMEN SAY ABOUT WINE of CARDUI

Wine of Cardui assists the young girl to properly assume the dignity of womanhood by correctly establishing menstruation. It regulates the menses for women of any age. It strengthens all the womanly organs. It cures bearing down pains, ovarian pains and banishes all trace of leucorrhœa and other inflammation. It cures barrenness and relieves the distress of childbirth. It stops the terrible and dangerous flooding after childbirth and allows the mother to quickly regain her health and strength. When declining years approach, Wine of Cardui prepares a woman for the change of life and a healthy old age.

Wine of Cardui is the medicine that a million women have resorted to when they longed for health more than anything else. And we have yet to hear from one who was disappointed—and who did not secure some benefit even though she were physically beyond any complete cure. If you believe what any of these women say about Wine of Cardui go to your druggist and buy a $1.00 bottle today.

MARCUS, WASH.—When I commenced taking Wine of Cardui and Thedford's Black-Draught I was a great sufferer at the monthly periods with pain in my left side, head and lower part of my bowels and was irregular. Now my menses have come without pain. Julia Altone

ELKTON, KY.—I had flooding spells nearly all last summer and was close to death's door. Seven bottles of Wine of Cardui and three packages of Thedford's Black-Draught cured me. Dicy Addison

FAULCONER, KY.—I have been a great sufferer and my life was almost a burden to me. I commenced using Wine of Cardui and Thedford's Black-Draught and I feel like a new person. Mrs. [illegible] Mahan

AMETHYST, COLO.—Wine of Cardui has caused me to become a mother when everything else had failed. Dora J. C. Lefevre

LUTCHER, LA.—After my first child was born I suffered with dragging pains low down in the abdomen, pain in head and neck. My husband prevailed upon me to take Wine of Cardui and to my great joy two bottles accomplished a complete cure. Mrs. C. J. [illegible]

LIZZIEVILLE, ALA.—I have borne three children, two of them still-born. I commenced Wine of Cardui and Thedford's Black-Draught according to your directions and Dec. 20, 1902 gave birth to a fine boy baby who is in good health. I give your wonderful medicines all the credit. Ida Blakely

CHILLICOTHE, MO.—I have been sick for some time with change of life. Nothing I got did me any good until I took Wine of Cardui and Thedford's Black-Draught. They have relieved me more than anything else. Matilda Moling

Balky Stomachs.

They Show No Strutural Defects, Exhibit No Evidence of Real Disease—Because they Are Fagged, Lazy or Contrary, They Won't Work.

Food Lies in them for Hours, Decomposing, Rotting, Fermenting, Forming Noxious Compounds, that Poison the System, and Overtax those Organs that Have to Eliminate It, Instead of Nutritious Chyle that will Enrich the Blood so it May Feed the Various Tissues and Structures of the Body.

When the stomach won't work the whole body suffers as every tissue or structure of the body depends on the stomach for nourishment and renewal.

If the stomach is weak, inactive and unable to properly digest food it not only subjects the body to a state of chronic semi-starvation or habitually half-fed condition that weakens it and renders it less productive of accomplishment and less resistant to disease, but it allows of the absorption of half-digested, rotting material that is a positive poison to it and taxes the eliminative organs to expel it from the body. Thus it will be seen that the inconvenience and distress, the disturbed rest, the horrors of insomnia, and the dreadful caprices of nightmare, are the most insignificant part of indigestion and that real danger lurks behind the condition.

Few people seem to realize the dangers of weak, defective and disordered digestion. Health reports do not give it as a cause of death because some other disease sets in to work destructive changes, only made possible by the imperfect digestion, and the death is accredited to them.

There are many medicines on the market intended to correct and improve perverted or impaired digestion, but none are so safe, so economical, so convenient, so effective, so satisfactory, so popular as are Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Whether the dyspepsia is of long standing or is only a case of temporary indigestion, they give prompt and pronounced relief. Their regular use for a time will cure all forms of gastric insufficiency so that "good digestion will wait on appetite and health on both."

By promoting perfect digestion all tissues and structures are better fed and take on healthful activity, the blood becomes rich, the flesh sound and firm, the nerves strong, the eyes bright, the skin clear, the mind alert and cheerful, and one begins to feel the lust of life—the joy of mere living.

Mr. Thomas Beale, Mayfield, Calif., says: "[illegible] used and recommended Stuart's Tablets because there is nothing like them to keep the stomach right."

Mr. E. H. Davis of Hampton, Va., says: "I doctored five years for dyspepsia, but in two months I got more benefit from Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, than in five years of the doctor's treatment."

Phil Brooks, Detroit, Mich., says: "Your dyspepsia cure has worked wonders in my case. I suffered for years from dyspepsia, but am now entirely cured and enjoy life as I never have before. I gladly recommend them."

Mrs. Lydia Bartram of Assyria, Mich., writes: "I have suffered from stomach trouble for ten years and five different doctors gave me only temporary relief. A Mr. E. R. Page advised me to try Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and four boxes did me more permanent benefit than all the doctors' medicines that I have ever taken."

Rev. J. R. Hoag of Wymore, Nebraska, writes: "For six years I have been troubled with dyspepsia. Last fall I became very much alarmed at some symptoms of heart trouble and came to believe there was a sympathetic relation between the two diseases, or rather, that the stomach trouble was the cause of the heart disturbances. I hit upon Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets for a remedy and invested a dollar and a half for three boxes which lasted me three months and I can eat any kind of food I want and have a good vigorous appetite. Although I am seventy-seven years old, I now feel perfectly well and without being requested by anyone I make this statement as a compliment to the virtues of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets."

Henry Kirkpatrick of Lawrence, Mass., says: "Men and women whose occupation precludes an active outdoor life should make it a daily practice to use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after meals. I have done so myself and I know positively that I owe my present health and vigor to their daily use. From the time I was 22 when I graduated from school with broken health from overwork until I was 34, I scarcely knew what it was to be free from stomach weakness. I had no appetite whatever for breakfast and very little for any other meal. I had acidity and heartburn nearly every day and sometimes was alarmed by irregularity and palpitation of the heart, but all this gradually disappeared after I began using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and I can eat my meals with relish and satisfaction which I had not known since I was a growing boy."

If your stomach won't work, try Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and be convinced of their merits. All druggists sell them at 50c a box. Once use them and you will become [illegible] and friend

ST. LOUIS HORSES IN THE INAUGURAL

Frank Bell, Malster and Stand Pat Will Start in the New Orleans Holiday Feature Event.

BIG RACES ON FOUR TRACKS

Carbuncle Is Selected to Win the Washington Cup at Bennings, With Hilee Latonia Favorite.

BY R. D. WALSH.

Thanksgiving Day will be a lively one on the turf. Four tracks—New Orleans, Orkland, Bennings and Latonia—will be in full operation, and important events will be decided at each.

The Inaugural handicap will be the feature at New Orleans, and a dozen good horses are carded to start in this event. St. Louis horses are strongly represented in the Inaugural, Frank Bell, Malster and Stand Pat making a formidable trio. New York and Chicago are also much in evidence. George C. Bennett of Memphis has his recently purchased Dan McKenna in this race.

Dan is a high-class thoroughbred, but he has never been considered a sprinter. Still, in his St. Louis races this fall, he was always prominent at every stage of the running, and he seems to me to have the necessary speed. He certainly has the class to win from this company.

Smathers' mare Irene Lindsey is an animal of great speed that held her own with the best on the metropolitan tracks last summer, and she is surely dangerous here. The strongest objection against her chances of victory is in the big weight she will carry.

With an even break Malster can hardly fail to be in the money, but he is not a good actor at the post and that is a serious fault. Stand Pat's chances are rather slim unless the track happens to be muddy. Vanness, Lauralighter and Big Ben are completely outclassed.

Ivernia looks a good thing in the last race. Byways should land the fifth and Gregor K. figures much the best in the opening race.

The feature of the Bennings program is the Washington Cup at 2¼ miles. An ordinary field of eight will meet in this event and Carbuncle should have little trouble in annexing the cup. He is a high-class horse whose forte is a distance. Sheriff Bell and Circus are the only horses in the race that can give him an argument.

This is the closing day of the fall meeting at Latonia, and an excellent program is carded. The feature will be the Thanksgiving Handicap at a mile and a quarter, and a dozen of the best horses at the track are carded to start.

It is a very open race because the weights are so distributed that every horse has a chance for the long end of the stake.

At even weights Reservation is the best horse, but he is giving away a tremendous lot of weight to every horse in the race. Still he is a good colt and at this season of the year he is practically a 4-year-old. Even with 116 pounds up I fancy him to win this race.

Hilee is much the best in the first race at Latonia and should have an easy victory. Mr. Elliott will need a little money for get-away expenses and I think he can pick it up here.

Pat Civil's Applause should win the second. Karl Kahler is a grand sprinter and looks to have the handicap at his mercy. Fred Cook has a good one entered here in Father Talent. With a good start he will make it lively for Kahler, and the Cook horse looks like a "cinch" to be in the money. Against this field he should be even money to show.

The best three bets on today's various programs seems to be to be Ivernia at New Orleans, Carbuncle at Bennings and Hilee at Latonia.

TELEPHONE PREVENTS MURDER

Intended Victim's Broken Connection With Police Station Took Officers to Scene.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 26.—When Sergt. Sheigler of the Camden police responded to a call on the telephone he heard cries of murder and sounds of a scuffle.

Then all was silent, and whoever used the telephone evidently had been prevented from calling for help.

The sergeant found the call had been sent in from a South Third street junk shop.

When a patrol wagon full of police arrived there they found a desperate conflict raging between four white man and a negro.

The negro was attempting to kill the others with an iron pipe and all had been injured. The police quelled the disturbance. The proprietor of the junk shop said he had used the telephone, but was prevented from sending in his message by an attack by the negro.

Foreman and Horse Injured.

Fred Balz, driver of hose reel No. 11, was severely bruised and one of his horses so badly injured that it had to be killed by colliding with a smokestack lying in front of the Heimbacher Iron Works, on South Second street. The fire for which the alarm was given destroyed three freight cars in the Iron Mountain yards.

Seeking Murdered Woman's Relatives

Maj. Sylvester, chief of police at Washington, D. C., has requested the St. Louis police to find relatives of Mrs. Louis Morgfeld, who was murdered by her husband in that city several weeks ago. Morgfeld committed suicide following his crime, and their two children are in an institution in Washington. Mrs. Morgfeld's family name was Amann.

CRESCENT CITY INAUGURAL TODAY

Gregor K. in First, Mayberry in Second and Ivernia in Last Picked to Win.

SELECTIONS AT NEW ORLEANS.

GREGOR K.,
J. P. MAYBERRY,
IVERNIA.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 26.—Present indications favor a fast track for today's inaugural of the Crescent City Jockey Club's winter meeting. O. L. Richards, crack sprinter, ruled favorite for the inaugural in the poolrooms last Wednesday night. Ridiculously light books were offered players for speculative action and very little money was handled. New York was quoted at 2 to 1, with the Hildreth entry, Witful and Irene Lindsay, next in favor at threes.

Irene Lindsay belongs to E. E. Smathers, but is trained by Hildreth, and consequently is coupled in the betting with Hildreth's mare Witful.

Maister and Frank Bell have both worked extremely fast. Bell is credited with having moved a quarter the other morning in 22½, stepping the first eighth in 11½ flat and the last in 11. Stand Pat has also worked very fast. He went six furlongs in 1.15 Monday, stepping the first five-eighths in 1.01.

J. W. Schorr is disappointed over his inability to get Jockey Bullman here in time to ride Duenst, which is the best of his pair.

Doc Street is also put out because he failed to get Fuller to ride Big Ben. The latter is a "bear" in the mud, but doesn't cut much of a figure in the race on a fast track.

Eastern Owners Delay Arrival

Dan McKenna is a high-class horse, but he likes to go a mile or more. Capt. William Brown's 2-year-old Aggie Lewis is well thought of by the railbirds. She has been moving well and will cut some figure in the contest.

New Yorkers will hardly cut much figure in the racing here after the Bennings meeting. Most of the eastern owners who have booked stalls here will not come down until the Washington meeting closes.

Archie Zimmer, who trains for Congressman Tim Sullivan, put in an appearance yesterday.

Baker is here with E. K. Wheeler's horses. Frank Lightfoot has O. L. Richards' string in charge. L. S. Sire, who has been racing his stable on the western circuit all summer, shipped here from Chicago recently.

Bob Tucker is on hand with a select division of Capt. Brown's stable. Frank Kelly, Mike Dannaher, C. K. Fox, Albert Simmons and Starter Chris Fitzgerald are among the other recent arrivals. It has not rained here to any extent for over two months and the residents would welcome a heavy downpour.

No Path Allowed Outside Track.

The track has been given a new top-dressing since last season and needs rain to pack it.

The management insists that there will be no path on the outside of the track to spoil the races, as was the case last winter when the rainy season set in.

There are not as many horses as there were here last year, but the general average is better, and the indications are that the racing will be more satisfactory.

Many horsemen who raced here last winter will be found at Hot Springs and Los Angeles this winter.

Gannon, W. Hicks, Cochran, Minder and other well-known riders are already here. T. Wilson, the best lightweight in the West, is also on hand. D. Austin will be here as soon as Latonia closes.

TODAY'S HANDICAPS.

The handicaps for today are as follows:

First race, one mile:

Gregor K. first, Falernian second, Aladdin third.

Gregor K. is the class in this race and ought to win. He will be a short price. S. S. Brown's 2-year-old Falernian should be the contender. There will be a price on this one. Aladdin will probably be the second choice in the betting. Athelroy has a chance on his best St. Louis races. Potheen is at his best in heavy going.

Second race, five and one-half furlongs:

J. P. Mayberry first, Exclamation second, Cyprienne third.

J. P. Mayberry apparently holds his field safe and will be a good bet at even a short price. He ran a number of creditable races on the Chicago tracks and is probably the best 2-year-old in Charley Ellison's stable. Exclamation and Cyprienne figure very close for the place. Lady Free Knight may split the pair. St. Noel seems to be the most likely of the rest.

Third race, seven furlongs:

Sarah Maxim first, Mamselle second, Hickory Corners third.

This looks like a two-horse race, with Sarah Maxim and Mamselle having things all their own way. L. Wilson is sure to ride Mamselle, as this filly is now racing in the colors of his employer, Sam Hildreth. Sarah Maxim beat Mamselle, but she must be at her best and make no mistakes.

Jove A. and Hickory Corners ought to fight it out for third money.

Fourth race, six furlongs:

Aggie Lewis first, Irene Lindsey second, Dan McKenna third.

The Inaugural is the most difficult race on the card to select a winner from. The weights have been adjusted so carefully that it appears to be anybody's race at first glance. A closer examination develops the fact that S. S. Brown's fast filly Aggie Lewis will take a lot of beating with 93 up. She ought to run close to 1:13. There will be a good price against this one and she is worth a bet all three ways. New York has been working well. Irene Lindsey has a grand chance on her best races. She ought to be the contender. Dan McKenna figures well.

Fifth race, one mile:

By-Ways first, Charley Thompson second, Louisville third.

By-Ways will win this race provided she can dispose of Charley Thompson. The latter holds the others safe and will make trouble for By-Ways with an even break in the racing luck. Louisville will land about third. Lampoon has a chance to beat her for the show money. Ley Dorsey is the best of the others.

Sixth race, one mile and one furlong:

Ivernia first, Medal second, Siddons third.

Ivernia looks like the best of the Jay. Siddons ought to be the contending horse, but he is slow to get going, and Medal will, in all likelihood, beat him for the place. Baronet is the dangerous outsider.

Eliza Dillon also has an outside chance of finishing in the money.

LIFE PUZZLE TO BE SETTLED IN DEATH

Bachelor's Will Provides for Autopsy to Determine Nature of Long Illness

Anton Sacius, a quaint old bachelor, who for 40 years had conducted a vineyard on Elmer's Hill, near Belleville, died Wednesday night of a chronic disease which for years had baffled the skill of his physicians.

By the terms of his will Sacius provides for an autopsy to determine the nature of this illness, which alternately afflicted him and left him free.

He also provides that his body shall be cremated and the ashes sent to his sister in Germany.

He bequeaths $1000 insurance policy in the Odd Fellows to Miss Anca German of Millstadt, who for years has attended him. He also gives her $900 which he has on deposit with a bank.

Frank Gruenewald is named as executor. Mr. Sacius was 71 years old.

MUNYON'S PAW-PAW

Cured Mrs. Kendig, of Snyder Av., of CATARRH.

MRS. REIFF, OF GERMANTOWN, ALSO CURED.

Paw-Paw Cures Dyspepsia
Paw-Paw Cures Indigestion
Paw-Paw Cures Nervousness
Paw-Paw Cures Sleeplessness

This is the time of year when Catarrh fastens itself on the weak as well as the careless. A stubborn cold long continued is very likely to end in Catarrh and its poison distributed throughout the system produces Catarrh of the Stomach, Liver or Kidneys, any one of which is extremely dangerous and distressing. Paw-Paw will not permit Catarrh to get a foothold. It cleanses and strengthens the tissues which Catarrh attacks, drives mucus before it, purifies the blood and puts the system in condition to resist Colds as well as Catarrh. Fortify yourself against this dread disease by taking Paw-Paw. Disease usually attacks the weak. Paw-Paw will build you up and make you strong to resist not only Catarrh, but all constitutional diseases.—MUNYON.

Paw-Paw Cures Catarrh of Stomach.

Paw-Paw has cured me of severe case of Catarrh of the Stomach. Everything else that I have tried failed me. Paw-Paw gave me immediate relief and I am now perfectly well.

Miss Mary Kendig, 1227 Snyder avenue, Philadelphia.

Cured of Catarrh of Stomach.

Paw-Paw has cured me of severe Catarrh of the Stomach. I tried every known remedy and several doctors. I was also a victim of dyspepsia and nervousness. One bottle of Munyon's wonderful Paw-Paw has made me well and happy. It has so purified my blood and built me up that I want to recommend it to everybody.

MRS. W. REIFF,
Church Lane, Germantown.

It gives new life and strength to the stomach so that it digests everything that goes into it. Its effect upon the nerves is marvelous, it seems to relieve them of all strain and irritation. For insomnia it is proving a great blessing, as scores of people declare that Paw-Paw soothes and quiets the nerves so that one can enjoy a good night's rest and get up in the morning feeling strong and refreshed. It gives exhilaration without intoxication.

Sold by all druggists. Large bottle, $1. Paw-Paw Laxative Pills, 25c a bottle.

THANKSGIVING OFFERINGS OF THE ST. LOUIS THEATERS

Truth is no funnier than fiction in the life of Jess Dandy, who plays the part of the Cincinnati brewer in the "Prince of Pilsen." Almost all of us have seen Dandy in the laughable situation where he stretches himself and asks:

"And vas I married last nighdt, too?"

Walter Clifford, the tenor, who plays the role of the lieutenant in the Pilsen company, was married in St. Louis yesterday. The real and the unreal in theatrical nomenclature are not easily differentiated, and Dandy was able to read in the morning press that the man who plays the part of Jess Dandy was married yesterday. As a matter of fact, Dandy and Clifford are two different people, and the amusing result of the little error is that Dandy had an opportunity Thursday morning to ask himself, entirely outside the play:

"And vas I married last nighdt, too?"

Grand Opera in New York.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Although not the first night of the Metropolitan Opera Company, last night's performance of "Die Walkuere" was notable for the number of "firsts" in it. Felix Mottl, one of the most famous of the Wagner opera conductors, made his first appearance in America. Frau Gadski Waltho, well known here in other parts, for the first time essayed the leading role. Miss Olive Fremstad of Munich, Bavaria, made her American debut as Sieglinde.

Ernest Kraus, after an absence from America of four years, reappeared as Siegmund, and the part of Fricka was taken by Mme. Louise Home. Mr. Van Rooey was Wootan and Mr. Blass was Hunding. The Walkuren were Mmes. Seygard, Kronold, Van Dresser, Jacoby, Schaffer and Heidelbach.

Crossman Is Happily Cast.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—David Belasco's new play, "Sweet Kitty Bellairs," founded on Egerton Castle's book, "The Bath Comedy," was presented for the first time at the Lafayette Opera House last night before a crowded house which included among others Secretaries Shaw and Cortelyou, Count Cassini, Senators Platt of Connecticut, Depew, Spooner, Hopkins and Bailey, and Speaker Cannon.

Miss Henrietta Crossman, in the title role of Miss Kitty Bellairs, made a hit and had the audience with her from the very beginning of the play. Her support was excellent, and included Katherine Florence as Lady Standish, John Kellerd as Jasper Standish and Edward Stevens as Col. Villiers. The play, which is in four acts, is preceded by a prologue giving a glimpse and a breath of old Bath town and the abbey. It is magnificently staged. The whole company was called before the curtain at the end of the first act. The story of the play is laid at Bath in the time of George III. The heroine is Kitty Bellairs.

The English and Irish regiments are encamped outside of the town. She falls in love with Lord Verney, an English officer, and he, being too bashful to make love to Kitty, she makes love to him. Kitty advises her friend Julia Standish, whose husband is neglectful, to flirt with other men, and out of this advice results a threatened duel between Julia's husband and Lord Verney. The two women go to Verney's rooms to persuade him not to fight, and Sir Jasper Standish going there to withdraw his challenge, a domestic scene is threatened, but averted by Kitty sacrificing herself.

1500 BOILED HAMS FOR CONVICTS' DINNER

Well-Spread Table for the Men Behind Missouri's Prison Walls.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Nov. 26.—The 2054 convicts now in the Missouri state penitentiary did not enjoy a holiday this Thanksgiving, but were given a dinner by Warden Wooldridge, consisting of the following:

Fifteen hundred boiled hams.

Twelve bushels of cornmeal, baked into bread.

Twenty-five bushels of Irish potatoes, mashed.

Twelve bushels of beets and six bushels of onions, pickled together.

Five hundred pounds of apricots and 200 pounds of sugar.

Three hundred gallons of coffee, served with 100 pounds of sugar.

John W. Hargis of Hickory County and Gillison Shelton, colored, of Lewis County, the two life-term prisoners who were the recipients of Gov. Dockery's Thanksgiving pardons this year, were released from the penitentiary this morning and they returned to their old homes.

$77,200 for Spain's Exhibit.

MADRID, Nov. 26.—A cabinet council agreed upon a credit of $77,200 for Spanish representation at the St. Louis Exposition.

BABY BORN WITH TWO

Body and Both Heads of Child ... a Remarkable Physique Perfect.

PHILIPPSBURG, N. J., Nov. 26.—Mrs. Wm. Gillespie is the mother of a male child which had two necks, each surmounted by a perfect head.

From the shoulders down the child was perfectly normal and fully developed. The child weighed 9 pounds and was 19 inches in length.

Each head had perfect eyes and a normal nose and mouth and apparently each had connection with the lungs perfectly developed, for respiration was for a time perfect in each head. The child did not live long.

BRIDE OF 14 PROUD OF HER ELOPEMENT

Wore Mamma's Clothes to Deceive Preacher—Angry Parent Chased Husband From Her.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 26.—Mary Louise Parquette, 14 years old, and Paul Albert Knight, who is four years her senior, were the principals in an elopement which had some exciting features, and, unless the ire of the child-bride's father cools, is to have a sequel in court.

The story is well told by the child-bride herself:

"It was such fun. I enjoyed it, and told mamma that it was fine, but she says it was a disgrace.

"I got a lot of mamma's clothes and her high heeled shoes, and went to the home of a girl friend. I put on mamma's clothes because they would make me look older. And you know I had nothing but short dresses.

"You ought to have seen the high-heeled shoes. I looked about 25, and the preacher never did catch on.

"I met Paul after I had dressed, and, together with six of our friends, there being two married couples in the party, we went to the preacher's.

"We went to a theater in a hack. I went to the home of a girl friend for breakfast, and Paul went to his home.

"After breakfast, Paul came in and stated that my father was on our track. I was sitting at the window, and papa passed just then. He ran into the house and Paul and I went out the back way and jumped over a fence.

"Papa came after us and chased us for several blocks. I hid in the vestibule of a church, and he found me, but Paul got away.

"If he had stood his ground everything would be all right now, but he is afraid of papa, who threatened to beat him. I have not seen Paul since, but I am going to be true to him whether papa likes it or not."

"Papa says he intends to have our marriage annulled. If he does, I shall run away again and he had better make the best of it."

TAXED FOR FRAUD DEFENSE.

Former City Employe Says He Refused to Pay Assessment.

John McGann, formerly an employe in the city lighting department, declares that an effort was made to compel him to pay a part of his salary for the defense of "Tom" Barrett, "Long John" Dolan and Frank Garrett in their trial for naturalization frauds. He says he did not pay, because he quit the city's service to take another position before payday.

McGann, who lives at 4062 St. Ferdinand avenue, says other men in the employ of the city lighting department, and working with him, were made to pay a percentage of their earnings for the defense of the indicted Democrats, and that, as they wished to remain in the department, they paid. Among these, he says, was Tim Lynch, foreman of McGann's gang, who "put up" $10 twice.

Towell Acquitted of Murder.

William Towell was acquitted of the charge of murdering William Borcheros, the jury accepting his plea of self-defense after deliberating 15 minutes. On the night of Feb. 28 Towell, returning from a hunting trip, was attacked by three men as he was passing Borcheros' home, 4622 Natural Bridge road. He fired both barrels of his shotgun and Borcheros fell dead.

LEVEES FOUR FEET HIGHER THAN FLOOD

Roadway Twenty Feet Wide Will Crown Dyke Planned for East St Louis.

Three levees 20 feet broad at the top and four feet higher than the high-water mark of 1903 are planned for the protection of East St. Louis from future floods. The cost of the levees as planned will be $334,-050. A special election has been called for Dec. 15 to warrant the raising of this fund by bonds and subsequent tax levies.

Commencing at the Relay Depot, the levee to the northeast will be the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad tracks. The levee to the southeast will be the Illinois Central tracks. A mile or more east of the city limits a cross levee will be constructed, forming a triangular barricade against the water.

Protection from Cahokia creek, the internal enemy of the city in flood times when the water from the Mississippi turns the current northward through the city and spreads out in the low lying districts, will be afforded by concrete walls to be erected along the banks.

Since this plan was outlined, several conferences have been held with the two railroads interested. They have passed upon the proposition favorably, but not finally.

The railroad tracks along the easterly levees are thought to be an advantage, as the section men will keep the banks intact. The north and south levee, forming the eastern leg of the triangle, will be made into a roadway for the same purpose. The city limits will be extended to include the levee.

The man on the stage who does the trick of escaping from firmly tied ropes, submits to the bonds with a smile. He knows he can get out of the ropes that are being knotted. Put the same man in the woods and let Indian captors bind him to a tree for torture and he would struggle to the last against the bonds.

When the stomach is diseased there are bonds being woven every hour about the organs dependent on the stomach—heart, lungs, liver, kidneys, etc. The folly of mankind is to passively submit to the fastening of these bonds with no effort to escape until the pain they cause arouses fear.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It cures diseases of heart, liver, lungs, kidneys and other organs, when these diseases, as is often the case, have their origin in the diseased stomach.

"For a long time I was suffering and was hardly able to get about," writes Mr. Andrew J. Jennings, of Thomas, Tucker Co., W. Va., Box 194. "Was bothered with kidney trouble and my whole system was out of order; had no appetite. A friend of mine told me to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I did so and the first bottle restored my appetite. I took six bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and some of the 'Pleasant Pellets' and feel like a new person."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cleanse the clogged system from impurities.

Courthouse Clerk Wooes Pretty Girl From His Office Window and Joy Comes to Them.

BUSY HOLIDAY AT BELLEVILLE

Much Matrimony Prevails at the East Side Gretna Green, With Many Touches of Romance.

MRS. THOS. M. MAY, JR.

When Nora L. Leiner became Mrs. Thomas M. May, Jr., in St. Luke's Church at Belleville Thursday morning a romance was unfolded which savors of Old Mexico, where gallants woo 'neath their inamorata's balcony and convey love's protestations with signs and burning glances.

Three years ago when Thomas May, Sr., of East St. Louis was elected circuit clerk of St. Clair County he took his son, Thomas, then 17, to Belleville to officiate as a deputy.

The courthouse fronts on the public square; so does the National Hotel of which Jacob Leiner, Nora's father, is proprietor. The two buildings are less than 50 yards apart.

As young May glanced up from his typewriter the second day he saw a pretty girl in white on the portico of the hotel. He smiled; the girl blushed, then withdrew.

The next day she appeared again and the scene was repeated, but the girl remained longer. The third day a coquettish smile was the persistent admirer's answer.

For weeks the morning greetings between courthouse window and hotel balcony continued. Finally May plucked up enough courage to induce a mutual friend to present him to his charmer.

The devotion of the two since has been noted among their friends.

They frankly confessed their devotion and their intention of being married as soon as parental consent could be obtained. This was denied on the grounds of their youth, but the importunities of the lovers finally won.

The bridegroom-elect's father accompanied him to the county clerk's office Wednesday and a license was issued.

The ceremony at St. Luke's was solemnized by Rev. Father James Gough and was witnessed by many relatives and friends. A wedding breakfast followed at the bride's home.

Mr. and Mrs. May are both 20, and were born on the same day. Their parents were also married on Thanksgiving Day.

Mr. Louis P. Morganeier, 22, and Miss Florence L. Schnetz, 18, both of St. Louis, were married at the First Methodist Episcopal Church parsonage by the Rev. O. H. Clark.

Mr. Lee Mitchler, 22, and Miss Anna Haus, 23, both of St. Louis, were married by Justice J. A. Bedal. They were very desirous of keeping the marriage a secret, "for a while, at least," they said.

Mr. W. A. White of Granite City and Miss Ida White of Belleville were married by Justice Louis E. Wangalin.

At St. Luke's Church Wednesday afternoon Mr. Arthur Gautner and Miss Ida Wuertz, both of Belleville, were married. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father James Gaugh and a reception followed at the home of the bride's parents.

Albert Diller, a prominent painting contractor of Belleville, and Miss Sophia Peters were married Thursday afternoon at the home of the bride in Swansea by Rev. Erich Becker of St. Paul's Church. The attendants were Henry Diller and Arnold Monken, Misses Frances Diller and Anna Roedsheimer.

Cards are out announcing the engagement of William J. Schmidt, a popular young merchant of Reeb's Station, and Miss Viola Givenrod of Belleville. The marriage will be celebrated Dec. 3, and will be followed by a honeymoon trip through the west, where the groom-elect has mining interests.

The licenses issued at Belleville yesterday were to the following:

LOOK OUT

For the gem offered in "ready-to-wear" goods by the merchants in every Friday's POST-DISPATCH.

Austrian Commissioners Named.

A list of the Austrian commissioners to the World's Fair has been received. Count Harrach Rohrau, Knight of the Golden Fleece and privy councilor to the Emperor of Austria, is president. The vice-presidents are Oscar Edler Von Hoefft, grand master of the royal household, and Franz Hiess, councilor of commerce. Charles M. Rosenthal, Johann Peterka and Adolph Taussig are executive commissioners.

Shot Wife, Killed Child and Self

OKLAHOMA CITY, O. T., Nov. 26.—E. Estroff, a grocer, last night shot and killed his 8-year-old daughter, Madeline, fatally wounded his wife and committed suicide. Mrs. Estroff, who was able to speak when found, said she knew of no reason for the tragedy.

Ceylon's Commissioner Coming.

Ceylon's commissioner-general to the World's Fair, Stanley Bois, is expected to reach St. Louis from New York Thursday afternoon. Prof. James H. Gore of Columbia College, Washington, who will have charge of Siam's pavilion at the Exposition, is on his way to St. Louis.

Many Hunters; No Brides.

According to the records of the license office at Jerseyville, hunting has succeeded matrimony as a Thanksgiving Day amusement in that vicinity. Not one marriage license was issued there Wednesday, while the hunting licenses were called for in batches.

Hurt by Fall From Car.

John E. Love is confined to his home at 70 Vandeventer place by injuries sustained by being thrown from the platform of a Cass avenue car at Newstead and St. Louis avenues. Mr. Love was leaving the car when it collided with another car of the same line. His injuries are not serious.

Automobile as Prize.

A $1000 automobile has been added to the list of prizes to be awarded at the bazar for the benefit of St. Ann's Foundling Asylum at the Coliseum next week. Other prizes are a house and lot on Grand avenue, a $100 gold watch, a $150 parlor suite and a $350 piano.

Don't Lose Your Grip

Gray hairs often stand in the way of advancement for both men and women, socially and in business. Many men are failing to secure good positions just because they look "too old," and no one knows how many women have been disappointed in life because they have failed to preserve that attractiveness which so largely depends on the hair.

HAY'S HAIR-HEALTH

has been a blessing to thousands. It is a hair food, nourishing the roots, forcing luxuriant growth, covering bald spots, restoring freshness and life, and positively brings back gray hair to its youthful beauty and color. Hay's Hair-Health is not a dye, and its use cannot be detected.

HARPERS BOOK NEWS

DR. LAVENDAR'S PEOPLE.

Mrs. Margaret Deland's new book of stories concerning Dr. Lavendar and the other dwellers of Old Chester, seems to have awakened the interest in these characters created by the publication of "Old Chester Tales." "It will be a lump of pure delight to those who have aforetime known and loved Old Chester," says the New York Daily News. The Chicago Tribune thinks that "The author has done on a small scale what Balzac, Zola and others have done on a larger scale." The illustrations by Lucius Hitchcock are in close sympathy with the spirit of the text.

JUDGMENT.

Some of the interesting things said about Alice Brown's new novel;

"Packed with vivid emotions." — Washington Times. "A story . . . that stands out above the great mass of current fiction."—New York Commercial Advertiser. "The character of Jane Harding, who makes all the trouble, is as finely drawn as a cameo portrait." — Detroit Free Press. "Interesting from the first page to the last, and will impress the reader with its truth and power." — St. Paul Pioneer Press.

THE DUTCH FOUNDING OF NEW YORK.

If it was the purpose of Thomas A. Janvier, in writing his recently published history of the City's beginnings, to produce a work which every one should read, rather than one to be conned over by a few wise scholars and superannuated historians, he has succeeded admirably. The Philadelphia Inquirer finds it "an entertaining book containing much rich humor." The Washington Post is grateful because Mr. Janvier has "presented this history . . . in a most attractive manner, and in a humorous, clever style has enlivened a rather heavy subject."

REJECTED OF MEN.

It is a curious fact that while some of the daily papers have found fault with Mr. Pyle for attempting this theme, the religious press of the country has been practically unanimous in its acceptance of the book in the spirit in which the author wrote it. The reverence with which Mr. Pyle has approached his subject cannot be doubted. The volume is a remarkable study in novel form of the conditions that would prevail if the Messiah had come today instead of nineteen hundred years ago. It is a notable addition to that literature which is best represented by "Ben Hur" and "The Story of the Other Wise Man."

IRON POKER BEATS ROBBERS' FIREARMS

Timely Arival of French Ball Guest Aids Beleaguered Saloon Keeper.

BETRAYED BY THEIR LOOKS

Man Behind the Bar Keeps Close Watch on Visitor of Suspicious Mien.

A long and short duo of saloon robbers came to grief at the end of an iron poker wielded by a husky bartender, reinforced opportunely by a thirsty guest from the French ball, at the Crawford Theater bar at 4 o'clock Thursday morning.

The bar, on Fourteenth street, near the corner of Locust, is owned by Max and George Wolferman. Max Wolferman was on duty when the would-be robbers entered. They were not prepossessing, and Wolferman kept his eye on them. One was short, the other was tall. Both were shabby, and their thin coats, closely buttoned, failed to make them look comfortable.

As they approached the bar from Fourteenth street, Wolferman's inspection of them grew more careful, and he did not take any chances by turning his back on them.

The two men leaned against the bar and tried to become sociable. Wolferman was frosty and took note of the fact that the short man was inclined to edge toward the end of the bar.

Suddenly the short man threw off concealment, darted to the end of the bar, drew a revolver from his pocket and demanded that Wolferman surrender all the cash he had.

Wolferman's reply was to lift an iron poker that he had concealed on top of the crushed ice and to bring it down with a hard thump across the short man's temple.

The short man yelled—and the long man started to his assistance.

Just then a young man who had been attending the French ball in the coliseum, across the street, opened the door. The arrival of reinforcements took all the fight out of the robbers and they ran.

Neither Wolferman nor the unexpected guest attempted to follow them, but Wolferman, as soon as possible, told a policeman about it.

Then he set up the drinks to the guest from the French ball, put his poker back on the crushed ice and waited for business.

PURSE SNATCHER'S FACE IS SCRATCHED

Young Woman, Hoping Vainly for Reinforcements, Loses Battle With Negro Robber.

Miss Frankie Boldus, an athletic and fearless young woman of 618 Leonard avenue, fought desperately with a negro purse-snatcher within a block of her home. Although she lost the battle and her purse, the thief is carrying scratches and bruises on his face that may help to identify him.

Miss Boldus was returning to her home from a visit to a dressmaker who had promised to complete a new skirt for Thanksgiving day, but had not done so. In her purse was $5 with which she expected to pay for the skirt and some small change.

As she was walking on Leonard avenue between Morgan street and Lucas avenue, a short, heavy-set negro crept upon her from behind, pinioned her left arm to her side and atempted to seize the purse which she carried on a chain hung over her right wrist.

Instinctively she raised her right hand, and as she turned in the negro's grasp began to swing the purse at his face. It was not heavy, but the metal edges and silver initials that decorated it added something to its value as a weapon, and the negro was forced to release her while he began to grab at the purse.

For nearly two minutes Miss Boldus continued to strike at the negro's face and to scream. No one came to her rescue and she was forced to continue her battle alone.

The negro finally succeeded in catching the purse, and, after a tug that broke the chain, which had cut into the flesh of Miss Boldus' hands, turned and ran into an areaway.

Miss Boldus continued to scream and followed him. She saw him run into a blind alley and climb a fence that led into the public alley.

Several men now ran up and atempted to follow the negro, but he was out of sight. The negro was barely more than 5 feet tall, but heavily built and muscular.

FUGITIVE POSTMASTER TAKEN.

Millstadt Official Is Charged With Raising Money Orders.

August Schmalenberger, former postmaster at Millstadt, St. Clair County, Ill., has been arrested at Huron, N. D., and will be brought back to Illinois for trial in Springfield on charges of raising money orders.

Schmalenberger was assistant postmaster under Charles Tegtmeier and had complete charge of the money orders. He was well connected and was trusted by Tegtmeier. It was some time after it was known that irregularities existed in the Millstadt postoffice before the inspectors were able to discover the process of securing money. Orders were raised from $1 and $10 to $100. Schmalenberger left Millstadt in January.

Allen (175)	Left halfback	Pitzman (145)
Jones (160)	Right halfback	Smith (150)
Jinkley (166)	Fullback	Tolson (190)

Officials—Colsett, Virginia; Durkland, University of Illinois.
Time of halves—35m.

The Washington University and Iowa University football elevens will hold the center of the stage this afternoon, when they meet at League Park at 2:30 o'clock.

Two other games are scheduled. At the college campus the C. B. C. team will play an alumni eleven and at Sportsman's Park the St. Louis University team will battle with the Kansas City Medics.

Washington and Iowa are expected to show a few things about real university football playing.

Washington appears outclassed on paper, but the team is fast and has been effective and will surely die hard.

Coach Chalmers of Iowa and his men are quartered at the M. A. C. Yesterday they went through signal work and the way they did it was an eye-opener.

Notwithstanding the men are beefy, the eleven is fast. Its defeat of Illinois classes it right up at the top of Western elevens and it is by far the strongest eleven that has been seen in St. Louis this year.

The Northwestern eleven, which appeared here earlier in the year, had not reached its full stage of development when it tackled Washington.

LEADING GRIDIRON BATTLES TODAY

Washington vs. Iowa, League Park, 2:30 p. m.
Smith Academy vs. High School, Sportsman's Park, 10 a. m.
St. L. U. vs. Kansas City Medics, Sportsman's Park, 2:30 p. m.
C. B. C. vs. Alumni team, College campus, 2:30 p. m.
West Ends vs. McKendree, Lebanon, Ill.
Michigan vs. Chicago, aMrshall Field.
Minnesota vs. Wisconsin, Madison.
Kansas vs. Missouri, Kansas City.
Nebraska vs. Illinois, Lincoln.
Pennsylvania vs. Cornell, Philadelphia.
Carlisle Indians vs. Northwestern, Marshall Field.
Dartmouth vs. Brown, at Manchester.

Boynton's men have had only light work during the week. Little scrimmage practice has been permitted and the men are in perfect condition.

Little Bischoff still has a sore eye, but will be in the game. He is the only man on the injured list.

Beef and brawn should do the turn for Iowa. The eleven outweighs Washington 12 pounds to the man. Its back field is heavy and fast, and a 221 pounder is among the heavy personages doing duty in the rush line.

Washington's heaviest man is Luckey, who goes over 190. With the exception of Heuman and big Tolson, the rest of the eleven is very light—too light.

Washington sprung a delicious assortment of "fake" plays in the Cincinnati game, and all of them worked. They will be needed today for it goes without saying that the heavy Iowa line will throw back the Washington plungers.

Whether Iowa can be victimized like the Cincinnatians is doubtful as the players are "old hands" at the business.

The Washington game will be the society event of the day. All the notables of the city have been invited, from the mayor down. President Francis of the World's Fair and the foreign delegations have been invited to attend.

The game next in importance to the Washington contest will be the St. Louis University-Kansas City Medics battle.

The Medics have a fast eleven that will make Delaney's men hurry to win. The visitors played the Haskell Indians an 11 to 6 game with the Indians victors. This showing classes the "doctors" well up in the list.

St. Louis University held its final practice yesterday and showed up in fair shape. A big gathering of students and alumni are expected to witness the contest.

The C. B. C.-Alumni game will not be a mere repetition of the contest last Saturday, when the Alumni won, 11 to 0.

Coach Todd of the college had several of his stars out of the lineup then, and his eleven was not strong enough to stand the strain. With his best eleven in the field, the Alumni will have their work cut out for them.

The Alumni will line up lighter than the regulars, but with men like McGrail, Jackson, Bland and other good ones in the game.

All this afternoon's contests are scheduled for 2:30 o'clock.

BIG CROWD AT MISSOURI GAME

Ten Thousand Persons See the Tigers Do Battle With the Kansas University Men.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 26.—The greatest crowd in point of numbers that has ever witnessed a fotball game here gathered this afternoon to witness the twelfth annual contest between the elevens of the Missouri and Kansas universities. Nearly 2000 enthusiasts came in from Missouri and over half as many from Kansas towns. About 10,000 persons saw the game. Conditions were good, with cold, clear weather, and a fine field. The majority of the bets placed early favored Kansas, 3 to 1, while many bets were taken at 4 to 1.

ILLINOIS PLAYS NEBRASKA

Westerners Go on Field Confident of Victory Over Cripples.

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 2.—The football teams of the Nebraswka and Illiofils universities met on Nebraska field this afternoon and played in the presence of a crowd of 6:00 people. The weather was col and cloudy. The Illinois players were not in the best of condition, some of them being still bruised from the recent Iowa game. The Nebraska team was in fine condition and expected to win by a small score.

SMITH WINS IN THE SECOND HALF

High Gets Long Lead Before Academy Players Succeed in Scoring.

FINAL SCORE IS 18 TO 11

Work of Stanard and Krutzsch Was Most Effective Done for Red and White.

Smith Academy at last wreaked revenge on the High School.

In a desperately fought contest at Sportsman's Park this morning the red and white warriors won from High's eleven, score 18 to 11.

High scored all her points in the first half, while Smith's three touchdowns were made in the second.

The surprise of the day was the great showing of the red and black eleven in the first period.

For 20 minutes High outclassed Smith.

Though the odds were strongly against High, the latter showed a great defense and a snappy aggressiveness that put Smith in very bad.

Smith fumbled badly. High worked the kicking game strongly and profited by the enemy's mistakes. After 10 minutes of play, Funk skirted Smith's right end for 20 yards. Right at goal he fell and fumbled, the ball rolling over. Weber fell on it for a touchdown.

The second touchdown was also made by Weber, on a round-the-end play. The goal was missed, and the score was High 11, Smith 0.

The half ended with this score and everybody expected a High victory.

The second half told the real story of the Smith strength. Coming on the field after being severely lectured by the coaches and with Ellpstein in Nolle's place, the red and white played like another team.

Superior weight, Stannard, Krautzsch and Hellman did the business for Smith.

The nervousness of the first half was gone and pounding the line for all it was worth, Stannard was pushed over from the 20-yard line—a distance bitterly fought.

High made a stand, and when her goal was threatened a few minutes later took the ball from Smith on the five-yard line.

A blocked punt, which rolled back of the goal line, and which Krutzch fell on, scored Smith's second touchdown.

Curby kicked one of the most difficult goals seen on any St. Louis field.

High fought gamely with the score 12-11 for Smith, but 10 minutes later Shock squirmed 20 yards through the High line for the final score.

As the game ended High was forcing the ball down the field rapidly on end runs, with Weber as the feature.

The game was witnessed by 7000 ardent rooters. The side lines were crowded with vehicles and autos, and enthusiasm was rampant.

The game did not start until 10:20, with Boynton and Connett as officials and Le Cron as head linesman.

Hard Luck at Game's Opening.

Smith began the game with the keynote of its misfortunes throughout the half—Hoevel fumbled the kick off and Castlin fell on the ball on the 20-yard line. High's offense was nervous and after try for a place kick ended miserably. Smith got the ball on her 28-yard line, and everyone held his breath while the High line was about to crumble at the attack of the red and white. Smith really did well for the first few plays. Krutzsch had made two good gains, but the inevitable fumble gave High the ball on her 45-yard line. High was weak on the aggressive and punted on the third down. Smith getting the ball on her 30-yard line. Two plays were made, when another fumble occurred, with the High man there to fall on it. The ball was then on Smith's 30-yard line. After two failures to gain, Robinson was dropped back as if for a fake kick.

Smith bit at the bait, and sent her men back. Instead of kicking, Funk got the ball and made a splendid dash around Smith's right end with Weber interfering. Five, ten, twenty, twenty-five yards he went. Right at goal he fell, and chorus of "Ohs" went up from High. The ball rolled over the line, with Smith and High men after it. Weber fell on it and Salisbury kicked the goal, score Hight 6, Smith 0.

Smith kicked off and High, after failing to gain in two downs, punted. Another miserable fumble gave Salisbury the ball for High School on Smith's 35-yard line. A quarterback fake netted 10 yards, but a holding penalty cost the red and black 20 yards. High punted and Kinbrough fumbled the punt, Castlin again falling on the ball.

Downs soon took the spheroid away from High.

Smith could not keep the ball nor could High do anything with the ball to speak of. An exchange of punts at length gave Smith the ball right at her goal line and Krutzsch promptly punted it. It was a [illegible] yards.

Robinson plunged into Smith for three and repeated it for four yards, and then came the second score for High. Weber got around right end for a 13-yard run and a touchdown. Salisbury falling on the goal.

Smith was nervous all through this half and could not get in the going. The continued fumbling of the men on punts and in plays materially and undoubtedly con-

CARLISLE OUTPLAYS NORTHWESTERN U.

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—Without opportunity for preliminary practice, but with the cheers of a big crowd ringing in their ears, the Carlisle Indian football warriors faced the Northwestern University team on the American League Park gridiron this afternoon. Weather conditions were favorable to a fast and interesting contest, but it was rather cold for spectators. For the first time this fall frost had made the ground hard.

"It's the first time this season," said he, "that Northwestern is not outweighed. Three times have we played ties, but we hope to make this final game a decisive victory over the speedy redmen, who follow the eastern style of game."

Coach Warner would venture no prediction. He had never seen Northwestern play but was not afraid of their great weight.

"Carlisle has had to play beef all fall," the coach added.

The crowd was unique. Drawn from the territory contiguous to Northwestern, the spectators wore the colors of the popular Indians and rooted equally hard for Uncle Sam's warde and the Evanston players.

Shortly before Northwestern kicked off, at 10:10, a heavy snowstorm set in. Carlisle worked the ball to the 24-yard line and Johnson failed to kick goal. Six minutes later Sheldon scored a touchdown through Right Guard Bell. Johnson kicked goal. Score—Carlisle 6, Northwestern 0.

Carlisle punted to their own 30-yard line. Northwestern tried for a goal from placement. Dillon blocking the kick.

Fake passes, line smashes by the Indian backs, Sheldon, and trick plays, and Johnson's 20-yard run off tackle put the ball on Northwestern's 10-yard line. Charles made a brilliant dash around Allen for a touchdown. No goal. Carlisle 11, Northwestern 0.

Sheldon and Charles carried the ball to Northwestern's eight-yard line. Williams bucked the line for four yards and then went over for a touchdown. Carlisle 17, Northwestern 0.

The first half ended a few moments later.

Carlisle kicked off and Northwestern returned the ball.

The Indians' speedy backs soon worked the ball down to the five-yard line. Williams went over for another touchdown. Carlisle 23, Northwestern 0.

McGann got the ball on the kick-off and was tackled hard by Flores. Carlisle's left end. One trial of the double shift failed to gain for Northwestern and McGann kicked to Johnson. Kennedy went in for Jude and Prickett displaced Carlson.

Northwestern's offense proved weak and Carlisle again began the "Red Man's march." Northwestern held for downs on her 25-yard line and was forced to kick after two trials against Carlisle's defense. Kennedy heeled for a fair catch and Charles tried a place kick from the 45-yard line without success. McGann's fumble of Charles' kick gave Carlisle the ball on Northwestern's 25-yard line. Johnson kicked goal from the 18-yard line, Charles holding the ball.

Carlisle 28, Northwestern 0, final score.

The line-up:

Carlisle.	Position.	Northwestern.
Flores	Right end	Peckum
Bowen	Left tackle	Kafer
Dillon		Scott
Shucuk	Center	Carlson
Lubo	guard	Bell
Exendine	Right tackle	Allen
Johnson		McCann
Charles	Right half	Ruber
Williams	Fullback	Flenger

YES OR NO?

St. Louis People Are Respectfully Asked to Answer These Questions.

Is there anything in the evidence of one's senses?

Is there anything in the testimony of one's friends?

Can reliance be placed upon statements from people we know?

Are the opinions of local citizens of any greater moment than those of strangers?

Would you sooner believe people living in some far-away place than citizens of your own city?

We think not! for home proof can easily be investigated.

Jacob Wolfe, carpenter, of 1230 North Ninth street, Third ward, St. Louis, says: "When I first came to St. Louis there was not a bridge across the river, there was only a ferry. I helped to build the court house over 40 years ago and worked on nearly all the old buildings in the city. There was not a railroad in St. Louis, so a word or two from me to my many friends and acquaintances should carry considerable more weight than if I lived say in the New England states. Mrs. Wolfe and I have had more than one attack of backache. Mine was not remarkably severe, but it was annoying. Noticing Doan's Kidney Pills advertised at Wolff-Wilson's," corner of Sixth and Washington avenue, induced me to go there for a box and Mrs. Wolfe and I commenced the treatment. If it had not performed absolutely what it promised, if the action of the pills was not a long way ahead of anything we ever used I would be the last resident in St. Louis to publicly recommend them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no substitute.

The football death list has cast a shadow on Thanksgiving.

An honest commissioner of pensions has the most disagreeable task within the gift of an administration.

Gen. Wood will expect that his victories over the Moros will be frequently mentioned today in the Thanksgiving proceedings.

THE MEAT COMBINE.

Consumers must pay advancing prices for meat, eggs, potatoes and other staple foodstuffs.

Breeders of beef and hogs, growers of vegetables and chicken raisers complain that prices were never so low.

The food trust prospers. The combine reaps a profit both ways. When it buys the producer is skinned and when it sells the consumer suffers the same sad pain.

The packing combine which was "knocked out" not many months ago is stronger than ever in Missouri. The trust packers have not only monopolized the meat supply but are gathering in poultry, eggs and vegetables. The food supply of the community must pass through the combine's warehouses on its way to the consumer. The producer must sell for what he can get from the only buyer and the consumer is at the mercy of the same monopoly.

This is a crushing weight to be borne. The whole community is at the mercy of a greedy conspiracy which controls the very sources of life. The people of Missouri and especially of St. Louis should do some hard thinking on a situation so intolerable. It is time for the authorities to bestir themselves.

The French have been fighting with the Tauregs at Bir Alali. We are not the only people who have benevolent assimilation troubles.

THE PUBLIC INTEREST.

The Chicago street car strike which ought to have been settled before it began, and might have been, as the terms of settlement show, cost the company $229,000. The men lost $61,960 in wages.

At a moderate estimate the citizens of Chicago lost $1,000,000 in time and dislocation of business and social organization.

If the companies and the employes prefer to take the way of folly they are not entitled to any sympathy. Let them fight out their differences if they are not wise enough to see a better way.

But they should not be permitted to involve anybody as a third party. They should be compelled to keep their "mixup" to themselves.

And this is exactly what they can't do. In its nature the street car service is a public service and the public is the chief party in interest in every transaction from the flotation of securities to the adjustment of wages.

When the people of American cities become really public spirited they will not permit the general manager and the union to violate the public right. When two belligerent citizens fight on the sidewalk, thereby hindering the movements of passers-by, they are speedily squelched. Cannot some means be found to prevent a worse disturbance of the same nature?

Raising money with baking powder for Arctic expeditions may do as much for science as organizing health socities to exclude alum does for health.

PARSIFAL AND COMMON SENSE.

Let us rejoice because of the logical clearness with which Impresario Conried proves that "Parsifal" is not a religious work and that, therefore, there is no sacrilege in producing it as a consistent feature of a mere operatic season.

This demonstration rescues the average opera goer from a melancholy choice between the two horns of a dilemma. As the case stood until now, if one proposed to enjoy "Parsifal" just as any other opera might be enjoyed the cry of "desecration!" would be raised, while, if one contemplated making a solemn ceremony of it as a religious observance, the natural terrors of Wagnerian music would be tremendously intensified. This made a bad outlook for the plain, everyday person.

But Impresario Conried has cleared the way for a commonsense settlement of the matter. "Parsifal" is no more sacred than any other opera, and, whether sung in New York or Bayreuth, must stand on its merits as a work of art. If you have the price, and like Wagnerian opera, go to hear "Parisfal;" if not wisely remain at home. But don't join in the silly cry as to its "sacredness." There's enough wild and woozy funny business in the music world already, without this "holy Parsifal" nonsense.

The arrest of 15 prominent and wealthy citizens of Montgomery County, Ill., for tax dodging is more exciting than the discovery of a fresh bunch of grafters.

A "DISTRESSED" YOUNG WOMAN.

A young woman who writes to "Letters From the People" is sad. In fact, it may be said that she is very sad. She calls it "distressed," but where is the woman who is distressed who is not superlatively sad, especially when that distress has to do with other people's opinion of her personal appearance?

"I am twenty years old," she declares, "and some people say I am very backward; also that I have not a nice way and that I am bashful."

Now, is not that distressing? What wonder that this poor girl is all wrought up over the situation, especially since she cannot see that she is "either of those things," although she admits that she may be "a little quiet in her ways," according to the ideas of certain persons?

But oh, woe and woe! this is not all. "People talk behind my back!" Yes—actually, wicked, irresponsible and (what is worse) thoughtless persons make remarks out of her hearing concerning her "backward," "bashful" and "quiet" ways. Is not this terrible? Can we believe it possible that any woman (especially a woman of the unripe age of twenty years) can go through such an ordeal and survive? Oh, woe! What shall be done in this sad case? What can be done to shield this distressed young person of feminine peruasion from the attacks of unfeeling people who talk behind her back because they consider her too "backward," "bashful" and "quiet?"

Might we not tell her that these are the very persons of whom she should have no fear? Might we not tell her that the qualities of being "backward," "bashful" and "quiet," within certain bounds, are the very qualities which hosts of good men admire in women most? And may we not remind this young person that, when all is done and said, the principal object of a woman's life is to attract and hold the admiration of some worthy male inhabitant of this mundane sphere? And might we not suggest that, whatever comes, it is her duty and should be her aim to keep right on being "backward," "bashful" and "quiet in her ways," since of such as she is the kingdom of matrimony?

The contributions to the fund of the Hospital Saturday and Sunday Association this year should be so generous as to fully provide for the emergencies that are likely to arise, owing to the enormous temporary increase of population, during the coming year. Tomorrow and Sunday the people of St. Louis will be called upon to exercise their yearly privilege of giving of their abundance towards this noble charity. The arrangements for collections have been thorough. All that remains is for the citizens to appreciate the importance of making this year's total larger than that of any previous year. If this is done, it will undoubtelly mean the prevention of much suffering and the saving of many lives.

NO COMPROMISE POSSIBLE.

The Post-Dispatch is loath to believe the statement credited to one of the officials of the Postoffice Department in Washington that the cases of Miss Dreyer and McGrew have been reopened solely for the purpose of correcting the technical record and of complying with the letter of the law and the civil service rules.

The adoption of this course would prove a baseness on the part of those in authority in the government service in dealing with the rights of government employes and the laws governing the public service which is incredible. We cannot believe that any official would undertake a course of action, the discovery of which would assuredly bring upon him the condemnation of both the President and the public.

The real significance of such a course of action would mean this: We know that we are in the wrong and in accomplishing this wrong have violated the law and the civil service rules. We will not right the wrong, but will merely comply with the letter of the law, so as to strengthen the wrong we are doing. We will make the record straight, but let the essential injustice stand.

The depravity of such a course is manifest, and the folly of announcing it is appalling.

There can be no compromise in this case short of justice to all concerned. The issue is clear. It presents plainly the question of the possibility of a respectable woman's acceptance of service under the government—the right to protect her integrity and reputation from assault.

If the Postoffice authoritics, the Treasury authorities and the civil service commission stand by the arbitrary dismissal of Miss Dreyer and her brother-in-law who aided her to protect herself, and give the hearings which have been obtained for them solely for the purpose of correcting the record, then notice will be given to all women that they cannot enter the public service without consenting to indignity or worse.

We do not believe that President Roosevelt, if he knows the issue and the facts, will consent to this conclusion. He has taken the case in hand and his duty requires him to inform himself concerning the facts. If, knowing the facts, he consents to such a course Mr. Roosevelt does not represent the standard of American manhood which we believe he represents.

Attorney General Crow expects to procure the extradition of William Ziegler, but Mr. Ziegler is a strong headed man and it's hard to make him do what he doesn't like to do. That's what his friends say. Mere attorneys-general, governors and such like common folk, who represent nothing but the power of the law, must treat Mister Ziegler with respect.

Senator Morgan may make long speeches to empty benches, but if thoughts are things and go flying about through the atmosphere, lodging into this brain and that brain, will it not be just as well as if all the seats were occupied?

Dominican trouble has made known to millions a wholly unsuspected fact—the existence of President Wos y Gil. Few men occupy less space on a hotel register than Wos.

If anything is left after the big battleships are all paid for, Uncle Samuel may allow it to go toward good roads.

Mr. Schwab is no longer sought by interviewing reporters for the secret of success in life.

POST-DISPATCH SNAP-SHOTS.

A lady speaks first; also last.

With old roosters wholesaling at 4 cents, everybody can have some kind of a Thanksgiving.

There have been many scraps at euchre parties, but until now none has reached the point of a stabbing.

The Chicago strike, the Colombia-Panama disturbance, the Colorado doings and the Dominican warfare are doubtless all due to those sun spots.

New postmasters should be permitted to announce through the want ads what help they will need. There is no reason why they should be besieged.

It can hardly be supposed that suburban saloons will flourish. The suburbanite is in too much of a rush to catch his car to stop and take a drink.

POST-DISPATCH ANSWERS.

Legal questions not answered. Business addresses not given. No bets decided. Don't sign "Subscriber" or "Constant Reader;" one initial is enough. Address all letters, "Answers, Post-Dispatch, City."

(To All Questioners.—Don't write a word but the question and signature. Answerer has no time to read more. Be merciful.)

MED.—See directories at Gould's.

E. E.—See license commissioner, City Hall.

C. T. W.—Benton is in the Tenth district.

IDA.—Woman Suffrage Club, 417 Pine street.

P. G.—Have you tried gasoline or corrosive sublimate for wood worms on furniture?

DOT.—Write to H. M. Dunlap, president of World's Fair Commission, Savoy, Ill.

G. P.—Probably no premium on your 1-cent piece of 1863. You should have described it fully.

L. W.—Laborers in bonded warehouse are not under civil service rules. Pay from $600 to $720 per annum.

FERD. K.—Geo. Wood took the part of Marcus Superbus in "The Sign of the Cross;" Wm. Farnum was Ben Hur.

J. W. A.—Ohio total vote, 877,203; Iowa, 415,480; Massachusetts vote is said to be about the same as in 1902, when it was 398,689.

H. A.—We have not the address of any mental science society. Eastern Star, Masonic Temple. Perhaps some reader will kindly send in the name of something to put in cold cream to prevent the growth of down.

R. B. W.—The total amount of money in the defense and benefit funds of the American labor unions has never been published. It is probably about $3,000,000, but is continually fluctuating. The answer to your second question is that they would stand no chance in a contest on those lines.

H. F.—For corns, salicylic acid, 30 grains; camphor, 5 grains; chloral, 5 grains; simple cerate, 2 drams. Apply this salve at night, covered with cloth or adhesive plaster. Soak in hot water next morning and remove the corn. A second application may in some cases be necessary. A good corn doctor and easy shoes and slippers are also recommended.

C. W. H. S.—Dollar of 1799, large eagle, is worth $1.50. No premium on your other coins. CONSTANT READER.—No premium on your coins. (See fourth rule under heading.) C. K.—No premium on 1831 quarter. S. T.—No premium on Confederate $20. L. R. K.—No premium on any Columbian half dollar. CURLY.—Silver 3-cent piece, 1873, is worth 50 cents.

REGGY.—Wear full dress or tuxedo at horse shows or theater or party. Full dress is always proper. At Boland's—10 cents. You might reduce your calf fat by persistent exercise and moderate eating and drinking. To keep from getting holes in the toes of your stockings, keep your weight on your heels. Wear your Sunday clothes in the evening.

The Best Sunday Paper.

From the Richmond Missourian.

The Post-Dispatch of St. Louis is preparing an anniversary edition which will be issued on Dec. 13 to celebrate the end of its twenty-fifth year. It will contain 124 pages, 18 of which are in color; 600,000 pounds of paper will be used. A quarter of a million copies are being printed. The Post is easily the best Sunday paper [illegible]

JUST A MINUTE WITH THE POST-DISPATCH POET & PHILOSOPHER

THANKSGIVING DAY.

Two hundred couples, at the least,
Have chosen this a week to wed,
On food and love at once to feast—
A sort of loaf by fortune bred.

Two hundred couples have declared
Their faith in matrimonial ties,
And scoffers' diatribes have dared,
Regarding them as stupid lies.

Two hundred couples, fully primed
With warm affection and desire,
Have by this day their wedding timed,
As though of joy they ne'er could tire.

Ah, love itself is such a spread
That 'tis like gilding finest gold
On such a feast day to be wed,
When love has pleasures manifold!

Besides, there are so many days
When life is not a flawless gem,
It seems most prodigal of ways
At such a time to cluster them.

For matrimony is a joy,
And feasting is a rare delight,
And kisses (to the girl and boy Dead set on bliss) a treasure, quite;

So why not spread them out a bit,
And make of them a glorious streak,
Instead of one great fiery hit
Illumining a single week?

Oh, we are greedy—that is why
For joy we scramble as we do:
We think that we (oh, wisdom high!)
Can eat our cake and keep it, too.

The Recrudescence of a Joke

Once again we are reminded that jokes, like fashions in dress, run in cycles.

Spring a good gag or tell a good story today and just as sure as the vine grows round the stump it will start going in a circle and come back at stated intervals, usually every five or ten years, only to disappear and return again in regular order.

Take, for example, that ancient and honorable jest, so long a beloved inmate of the Old Jokes' Home:

The melancholy days have come,
The saddest of the year;
It's a little too warm for whisky,
And a little too cold for beer.

A local newspaper gravely extracts this old gem from the Boston Globe, which gravely published it on its editorial page a few days ago as original matter, and gravely republishes it on its editorial page, gravely credited to the Boston Globe.

Thereby hangs a tale of the recrudescence of this aged but sprightly jest.

It was twenty long years ago that this seemingly imperishable gag was sprung upon a confiding public. Yes, it was a little more than twenty years ago.

Let your mind wander back to 1880, or thereabouts, when you saw your first silver dollar. Hayes was President then—Rutherford B. Hayes of Ohio. Remember him? Let memory amble gently back to the time when Garfield was shot—when the newspapers were full of Charles J. Guitteau and talk about "stalwarts." Get back to the time when Chester A. Arthur and his amaranthine side-whiskers adorned the White House. Recall, if you can, the day when Grover Cleveland was mayor of Buffalo and governor of New York, years before 16 to 1, San Juan Hill, Cuban reciprocity and Theodore Roosevelt had ever been heard of. Get back to these times, I say, and while memory ponders over these archaic scenes say to yourself:

"It was during these times that this old stanza first saw the light of day."

Yet in this blessed day, in the twentieth century, in the fourth year thereof, even in November, 1903, one day before Thanksgiving, it is published again as "original stuff" in the classic town of Boston, and reproduced in the revivified town of St. Louis!

Are we not right in saying that jokes, like sartorial fashions, run in cycles?

Still for War.

Great Kaiser Bill has changed his voice,
(His throat from surgeon's knife is sore)
And yet—whereat his friends rejoice—
The monarch's voice is still for war.

Since certain politicians object to the appointment of Booker T. Washington's brother to a straight-out government job, why not arrange to have him elected president of some of our "protected" South American republics?

A morning paper says that "Miss Julia Marlowe will retire next Saturday night for a year's rest." Long sleep, that!

A tight shoe troubles some persons much more than a guilty conscience.

A willowy blonde is lucky if she never becomes a stick.

MISSOURI ODD FACTS.

The Rev. S. F. Taylor, president of Stephens College, at Columbia, bluntly expresses his opinion of football "I think," he says, "that any man who will play football is a fool, and any college president or professor who encourages such a brutal and degraded sport is encouraging brutality and a spirit of crime."

A rural mail carrier at Macon went over his route in an automobile. Postmaster Wilson has since received many letters from postmasters and rural route carriers in other places asking for the details of the trip and for his opinion concerning the feasibility of using the automobile on rural routes. To one of his correspondents, a rural route carrier at Bunker Hill, Ill., Mr. Wilson has written a letter in which he points out in a convincing manner the superiority of mule to motor power on country roads, especially if the mule be a Missouri mule.

Wade Duff, a thrifty citizen of Valhalla, St. Clair County, congratulates himself that he had made a shrewd deal the other day when he bought a team, wagon, harness and brindle dog for the small sum of $55. A correspondent of the Osceola Democrat intimates, however, that Wade got a trifle more than he bargained for. "That dog," says this candid correspondent, "isn't very badly gone on his new master; he insists on lying under the wagon and defies the new owner to take possession. Wade's wife has to call the dog and go to the neighbors when he hitches up."

Reception and Calling Costumes.

The first gown is a reception, or dinner, gown of old pink cloth. The skirt is encircled with seven ruffles, each bordered with a band of fagoting, and the top one is headed by shirring. The blouse with wide draped girdle is covered with a collar composed of two fagoted ruffles, which are draped and crossed in front. This collar, also the girdle, is trimmed with little straps of velvet of a darker shade, which are embroidered at the points with flowers. The plastron and close-fitting under-sleeves are of white cloth, made with groups of plaits and trimmed between the plaits with applications of cloth or lace. Over the tight-fitting sleeve is a sleeve of the pink cloth made with tucks at the top, from which hangs a long ruffle headed by shirring and bordered with fagoting. This is slashed open on the inside and lined with the dark velvet. The other gown is of plain olive green cloth. The skirt is finished at the bottom with a flounce of cloth with dots of a darker shade of green. This is headed by motifs of black velvet, bordered with plain cloth and fastened at the top with motifs or medallions of ecru embroidery. The corsage has a long plaited tunic basque opening in front, where the points are finished with motifs of the velvet and embroidery. The collar is of the dotted cloth, bordered with the velvet motifs and the medallions. The frill under-sleeves are also of the dotted cloth, and over these is a deep ruffle of the plain cloth, slashed open on the outside, the points finished like those of the tunic. The girdle is of the black velvet.

"A BOOK OF GIRLS."

Lilian Bell, the author of "Hope Loring" and "Abroad With the Jimmies," has issued a new book of short stories under the title, "A Book of Girls." The stories include "The Last Straw," "The Surrender of Lapwing," "The Penance of Heding" and Garrett Owen's "Little Countess," all of which are written in the usual brilliant style of the author. The book will prove an acceptable Christmas gift. (L. C. Page & Co., 200 Summer street, are the publishers. Price $1.)

WHAT GIRLS CAN DO.

Among [illegible] holiday books of Messrs. Dana Estes & [illegible] special mention should be made of "Three Hundred Things a Bright Girl Can Do," by Lilla Elizabeth Kelley. This practical handbook covers almost everything which a clever girl could wish to know or do, and treats in detail of such subjects as bead work, worsted work, sewing, embroidery, lace-making, easy carpentry, chip carving, relief carving, picture framing, pyrography, bent iron work, the making of paper flowers, cardboard designs, raphia, dyeing, rug-making, pen and ink drawings, pastel, water colors, coloring photographs, transparencies, china painting, oil, clay modeling, stained glass, leather, light calisthenics, dumb-bells, Indian clubs, swimming, rowing, skating, fencing, archery, tennis, golf, hockey, basket ball taxidermy, the making of an aquarium, raising pheasants, chickens and bees, silkworm culture, the treatment of flowers and fruits, chafing-dish recipes, candy making, practical household economy and the entertainment of guests. The chapters are arranged under convenient subheadings and there is a full index. The book is profusely illustrated.

FOR THE YOUNG FOLKS.

THE PIG WHO WOULD BE LITERAL.

"Oof! oof!" grunted the literal Pig, gazing intently on a page out of Mother Goose which little Bill had dropped into his pen—

"Barber, Barber, shave a pig,
How many hairs will make a wig?
Four and twenty, that's enough;
Give the poor Barber a pinch of snuff."

"What's the use of writing such stuff about what never happened. But never mind, I shall make this literally true by going through the experience. I believe in being litteral. Oof! oof!"

Saying which he set out for the Barber Shop in the village. The Barber was much amused to see a Pig come into the shop, but his amusement grew into amazement when the literal Pig said in good pig-English: "I want a shave."

"You?" cried the good man, in great confusion.

"Yes, I," said the literal Pig.

"Where's the Pinch of Snuff I get?"

When the Barber could control himself he set Piggy in a chair and began to cut his bristles. "Hurt you?" asked the Barber.

"Like fury," said the Pig, "but it must be done to be literal. By the way, how many hairs would it take to make a wig?"

"About a thousand," said the Barber.

"No, no; to be literal it would take four and twenty; that's enough, don't you know," droned the Pig.

"Well, to be literal," said the Barber, "where's the pinch of snuff I get?"

"I really forget it," cried the Pig, in dismay.

"Then to be literal," answered the Barber, sternly, "I can't finish the job for nothing; you get out."

"That's the most literal thing I've learned," grunted the Pig.

ONE THING LACKING.

"How's skating, my boy?"

"O, fine—if dere was only some ice!"

HISTORY OF THE THREE BALLS.

From Julian King Colford's "The Signs of Old London," in December St. Nicholas.

Lombard street, noted in history as the great London street for bankers, derived its name from the Longobards, a race of rich bankers who settled there in the reign of Edward II, and whose badge, the three golden balls, taken from the lower part of the arms of the Dukes of Medici, continues to this day to be the sign of pawnbrokers—money lenders. The balls on the rich crest of the Medici were blue, and only during the last half century have they, in the pawnbrokers' signs, been gilded. The position of the balls is popularly believed to indicate that there are two chances to one that what is brought there will not be redeemed.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Overcrowded Theaters.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Quite recently an establishment where boxing bouts were conducted was closed by the police because of the inadequate facilities for escape in case of fire. If a crowd, of husky ring followers cannot make a safe exit from a one-story structure in case of fire, what, under similar circumstances, would happen to hundreds of mere children that are nightly packed and jammed in the seats and aisles of the galleries of our local theaters? Notwithstanding the presence of fire escapes, during the panic that would surely follow an alarm of fire, serious injury and, doubtless, fatalities would result to many because of the overcrowded condition of the upper sections of the houses. One manager, with a keen regard for the safety of his patrons, has doubled the former prices of admission to the gallery.

Many hopes are expressed that the congestion that has heretofore prevailed therein may be reduced beyond his most sanguine expectations.

For the accommodation of the large theater-going public of St. Louis, the number of theaters is insufficient. This fact makes it possible for the managers of the existing houses to double and often treble the regular prices of admission during the presentation of productions that are very often of an ordinary and unmeritorious character.

Over a year ago the press announced the contemplated erection by eastern managers of two more playhouses in St. Louis.

Thus far no move has been made toward their construction, and yet nothing is more necessary to make conditions safer and to give St. Louisans adequate facilities for popular amusements. T. N.

St. Louis Day

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

As a former resident of St. Louis, I am naturally interested in all that concerns the World's Fair city, and will be pleased if you would, through your valuable paper, tell "A Native" that big Thursday is well enough for the city's annual Fair, but for World's Fair, I think Aug. 25 would be more appropriate, as that is the first St. Louis day in history. "E Pluribus Unum"

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I have a name for the nameless club. It is E Pluribus Unum. The meaning of it is united we stand, divided we fall. E Pluribus Unum is on United States coins. The name that I select is E Pluribus Unum Euchre Club.

BERNHARD DITTEMEYER.

You are wrong, Bernhard. "E Pluribus Unum" means "From many, One;" that is to say, from many states, one nation. However, the name would do well enough for a club.—Editor People's Column.

Advice Wanted

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Will some artist be kind enough to tell me how to prepare satin and silk for oil painting? The book of instructions I have recommends a certain "fixatif." I tried it, but it gives the silk a greasy look, as though it had been dipped in oil. I placed my paints on blotting paper, but that does not remove all the oil. A. S. M.

Name for Euchre Club.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Physicians are seeking a name for lame necks, that will prevail next year, caused by gazing up at the many airships sailing serenely in the air. Airship neck has been suggested. I thing Aero-neck the most appropriate. Also Aero-euchre club for the young ladies' nameless club. Being somewhat interested in sailing in the air, I submit the above. J. B. AERONAUT.

Those Grand Avenue Cars.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Here's to you (Miss) Rose Marion.
You spoke well, and were witty, too.
We like the way you carry on
About those cars on the avenue.
You must admire Grand avenue,
And its two-seated, romping cars;
But I'd not say, if I were you,
All those nice things—not by my stars.
Such undiscriminating praise
Is apt to do most serious harm;
It may spoil the conductor's ways
Which now are vested with such charm,
Or give the company swollen head,
Which you know—yourself—wouldn't do,
For that would change delight to dread
In all who ride on the avenue.
But p'haps 'tis wrong, indulging fear,
And you may not have praised enough;
But one thing you have made quite clear—
To ride on Grand's no longer "tough."
And we shall no more hesitate
To ride on Grand and take our chance,
If it doth thus exhilarate
Like airship, sea voyage or dance.
Why, this is what we've sought afar.
We, too, have sailed across the main.
But now that we can take a car
We will not sail the seas again.

* * *

Here's to you, Rose. You spoke quite well.
We lift our hat. You we salute.
But why on earth did you not tell
To ride on Grand 'twere to shoot the chute?

Not Treated "White."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

In last night's Post-Dispatch I observed the lamentation regarding competent female help.

While I believe there are a few families who treat their servants (when they are deserving) as they would like to be treated themselves, still the majority have very little regard for the feelings of female servants—they are in a great many instances treated worse than a cat or dog. It makes very little difference how well or how much interested she may be in her work, she must occupy a gloomy dismal room, barely large enough for a bed, or perhaps some old cast-off, shabby pieces of furniture—nothing whatever homelike or inviting about her apartments—not even heat. She must shiver in the cold, while those for whom she toils enjoy every luxury imaginable.

I have even heard the remark made when a home was being erected that it was not necessary to put gas jets in "that" room; "it is to be the servant's"—just as though she is only a working machine. It matters not how early or late she toils—"she is only a servant."

When the day comes when people will realize that when a girl is competent to fill your requirements, which are not few in any means, she also wants to be treated "white." Then is when those who [illegible] how will do it.

The Man in the Street

A VEGETARIAN FEAST.

That small but devoted band of ascetics who call themselves "The Vegetarian Society" will give an alleged banquet on Friday night.

With the contumacy that characterizes the eaters of cabbage and cereals, they refused to participate in the general Thanksgiving of Thursday, preferring to feast more exclusively. And we cannot blame them, for since they may not eat turkey, nor yet any meat, what have they to be thankful for? A vegetarian Thanksgiving dinner would indeed be a mockery.

Too Late.

We have no objection, however, to these men denying themselves the pleasures of the table, but we must quarrel with them on the score of inconsistency. One of their tenets is the salvation of animal life, and in holding their banquet on Friday, they will have overlooked an opportunity to live up to ons of their principles.

They should have given a banquet on Wednesday or Thursday, and invited many eaters of meat. After these guests had stuffed themselves with "mock turkey, counterfeit goose," etc. (vegetarians will imitate flesh foods), they would have been in no condition to prosecute a turkey slaughter, and the lives of many noble birds might have been saved. Much money would also have been saved by the meat eaters, for a turkey is less expensive than indigestion tablets.

Still the vegetarians have our best wishes. We hope they will recover from that banquet all right.

A telegram from Mount Vernon, Ill., says that there was a fire in a newspaper office there Tuesday. Must be having prosperous times up Mount Vernon way, or subscriptions are paid in coal.

Motormen are demanding heaters on their platforms. This encourages us to hope that smokers on the rear platforms may be similarly provided for.

With the aid of a feather duster any boarding house may now palm off any meat mixture as turkey hash. A strip of feather will give the needed touch of reality.

Man bought a stock of what he supposed was tobacco, but it proved to be sawdust. Well, he can manufacture it into cigarettes, and no one will know the difference.

The food trust will again raise prices. This will be bad news to those afflicted with a chronic appetite.

Miss Marlowe says that she is not going to retire from the stage. What a very obvious remark!

The Goat Dairy.

At last the pure milk problem is to be solved. Several benevolent capitalists of St. Louis (if you can't swallow the adjective, leave it out) will establish a goat dairy here to supply families with butter—no, with pure milk. How those jests of one's childhood will creep in!

To insure the absolute purity of the product, this dairy will be run on an entirely new plan. Instead of peddling the milk, the managers will rent the goats, and each family will do its own milking. This plan has many advantages. Not only will it protect the consumer against adulterations, and skimmed milk, but it will save ice. Instead of keeping the milk in the ice chest, you will keep it in the goat, and whenever you need any, you will go and tap the animal. That is, if he doesn't see you first. The goat is a moody animal, and may object to irregularity in its milking hours. And when a goat objects, his objection is apt to be so forcible as to command attention.

Of course some system will have to be established to protect both the goat and the consumer. The goat might issue tickets calling for so many pints a day, and refuse to honor more than these demands.

One problem that presents itself is, whose duty will it be to milk the goat? Will the husband or the wife persuade it to yield its quantum of lacteal fluid? In the division of household duties, this one has not yet been allotted.

And as most of us are unacquainted with the methods of securing the goat's output, how are we to be instructed in the mystery? Does a force pump go with each goat?

About the maintenance of these goats; we who live in flats will find that a problem. Shall we keep the goat in the basement, or shall we live therein and give up the flat to the goat? And will we be responsible for what the goat does to the grocery boy? These are matters that must be cleared up. Also, we want to be protected against our own ignorance. Suppose we had ordered a goat to milk, and it should not be that kind of a goat—what recourse would we have?

NAMING THE BABY.

When the most-wonderful-baby-on-earth arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Black the proud parents sent cards to all their relatives and intimate friends.

"I can't help it," said the most-wonderful-baby's mother to the father of that paragon, "but I can't decide on a name for him so quickly and I'm going to take my time. What'll you put on his card to be inclosed with ours, then? Why, it will do ot have just 'Baby Boy.' I'm not going to name him out of hand just because an old calling-card engraver orders me to."I'M SENDING IT A SPOON."

It was not very long before notes and express packages began to arrive. The first was from Black's bachelor uncle, who has money.

"I am glad, he wrote, to see you are still deliberating over the child's name. Without wanting to be insistent, I will suggest that nothing flatters a lonely old man more than to know he has a namesake in the world. It is likely to aid him when he makes his will. I'm sending it a spoon—the k'nd with a curled-around handle, so it can get a good clutch on it."

"It!" quoted the baby's mother in scathing accents. "Any one would know he is a horrid bachelor. And his name is Ezekiel! I can't and won't."

"No," agreed Mr. James Black, "even $500,000 isn't worth that name."

They received a letter and a present from Cousin Kate next.

"I'm crazy to get hold of the darling," she wrote. "Jim, don't you think it would please mother if you named him for grandfather? I really think you ought—the first grandson in the family. I found the dearest spoon today, which I'm sending—it's got a funny curled-up handle."

"He can use one in each hand," said Black, courageously. "But much as I revere grandfather I don't exactly want to burden my son with the name Pickleton Black. I think we'll let Pickleton drop silently out of the family records.

Mrs. Black's sister's note came to hand the next day.

"So glad it's a boy," she wrote, "for now you can show the world that every baby doesn't have to be named John or Thomas or George. Have some originality about you. I would suggest Geoffrey or Adelbert or Claude—something pretty and poetic. I'm sending a spoon that he can keep and hand down to his own son—it is heavy enough to stay in the family for generations, goodness knows. But it has a curled handle so he can use it."

"Claude!" moaned Mrs. Black. "I can see Claude—spindle legs, golden curls to his narrow shoulders, weak eyes and a constant sniffle! I think Laura might have more sense, but she was always sentimental."

"Maybe he will be expert with his toes," put in Black, "and in that case a third spoon might not be so bad, after all."

A messenger boy left a box. It contained a friend's card, on which was written: "Of course you will name him for your father? I send him a spoon with a curled handle, hoping he can use it."

"Lucky he has one foot still disengaged," said Black, amiably. "Dearest, I like your father; still, don't you think your son would prefer to be called sometning else besides William Henry?"

"I don't care if he never has a name," wailed the baby's mother. "Every idea I ever had has been driven out of my head by all these people with their names and curled-handled spoons. There was a name I had decided on, but I can't remember what it was."

"JAMES."

The next week brought five more spoons and suggestions ranging from Hezekiah and Theodore Roosevelt down to Patrick and Frizzell, a family name.

Storm clouds hovered over the Black home and Black arrived for dinner one night with a nervous dread of the day's report of more spoons and hints. He found his wife with a radiant, peaceful face. She smiled when he inquired the cause of her happiness.

"The names settled," said she, "And we can give the extra spoons to other babies. I just remembered today what it was I wanted to call him."

"What?" shouted Black, feverishly.

MORE SPOONS AND SUGGESTIONS.

"Force-thoughts"

XXII. Nov. 26

I HAVE read so much about success without finding a recipe for success. What I have read is good as far as it goes, but it doesn't go far enough—back.

¶ Success must begin with your breakfast, because everything you are is based upon the food you eat.

The man who is not able to solve this breakfast question is not able to solve the problems of life.

¶ If you cannot think at all, you certainly cannot think of being happy, and nothing gets so much in the way of one's thoughts as the wrong sort of breakfast.

You will find in every flake of that food called "FORCE," the sunny food, a small particle of clear-sighted energy which becomes a part of you and your power to do.

¶ The man who eats "FORCE" is able to be sunny and apt to be. Yours truly, Sunny Jim.

WHAT HE WAS WRITING FOR.

F. Marion Crawford, the prolific novelist was introduced to a young woman recently. Hearing that he was a novelist, she said:

"And have you written anything that will live after you are gone?"

"I don't know," he replied. "You see, what I am after is something that will enable me to live while I am here."

FORMER NEWSBOY, NOW RICH, FED 5000 LITTLE MERCHANTS

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—Seventy-eight of Isaac Wolfe's employes took care of 5000 newsboys last night and fed many youths as they never had dined before.

Each year has increased the number of boys at the Thanksgiving dinner given by Mr. Wolfe and the season for the twenty-first of the feasts, the First Regiment armory was engaged. It was here that 500 visitors had almost as much pleasure as the boys, while again and again the long tables were filled and emptied.

When the newsboys' plates were emptied they were filled again, and when they had eaten all they could their pockets were filled with fruit. At the door they were welcomed and when they were through they were told if they could eat any more they could enter again.

The boys were served at 20 long tables, seating 1000 persons. Mr. Wolfe gives the annual dinner in memory of his own boyhood life as a newsboy in London and in observance of a vow he made at that time. The last dinner cost $6000 and the supplies included 530 turkeys, 250 large bunches of bananas and several wagon loads of baked goods.

NEW NATIONAL BANK FORMED.

The Western National Bank, application for the organization of which has been made to the treasury department at Washington, expects to commence operations in St. Louis by the first of the year. The capital stock will be $200,000, nearly all of which will be subscribed in St. Louis.

Arthur L. Crandall, a stock broker, is in charge of the organization. Mr. Crandall says that a location east of Twelfth street has been selected, and the capital stock will be paid within the next two weeks. Samuel H. Buck, F. W. Child, W. H. Cooke and Gay C. Mariner are officers.

SUBMARINE BOAT PLANS GONE

Former Employes of Holland Co. Accused of Taking Them—Likely Sold to Foreign Governments

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Charged with stealing eight sets of plans of the Holland submarine torpedo boat, duplicates of which, it is believed, have been sold to foreign governments, Frank P. Norman and Frederick B. Hall have been arrested in Hoboken.

F. W. Brady, an engineer employed by the company, who makes the charge, says Hall was employed by the Holland company until about a year ago, and, shortly after he departed plans were missed.

Charles C. Fields and Henry D. Clark, detectives, were taken into the employ of the company, and, after making the acquaintance of Hall and Norman, began to negotiate for the purchase of four sets of plans.

A meeting was arranged to complete details of the sale at a Hoboken hotel last evening. When all were under the detectives burst into the room. Norman drew a knife, it is said, and stabbed Detective Sergeant Kerrigan in the hand.

Papers were seized which were identified as plans. Other sets of plans, the police say, were found in Hall's apartments, which were handsomely furnished.

THE LADIES' WORLD

An authority on all matters pertaining to the domestic life of the home. The guide, adviser and friend of half a million American women who are regular subscribers.

A Monthly Magazine for Practical and Progressive Women

Thanksgiving Day

The one favored above all other days of the year for those ever-enjoyable family reunions. Those happy gatherings which bring together, after weeks of pleasurable anticipations, the loved ones for "a Thanksgiving Day at the old home."

In more than one-half million of the happiest homes in America, the pleasurable duties of the housewives in decorating and arranging the home for the invited guests, in preparing the ever-memorable "Thanksgiving Dinner," and in arranging plans for the entertainment and amusement of both young and old, have been made materially lighter and easier to perform by the welcome assistance which has been received from their constant visitor, THE LADIES' WORLD.

It is so practical, so wholesome, so thoroughly helpful and entertaining, that it appeals to women who are interested in the fine art of home-making—women whose home and family come first.

In fact, it occupies a leading position among the exponents of modern science, and with those who desire to keep abreast of the improvements that are being made in the realm of home-keeping.

The Ladies' World is the largest, the handsomest and the finest domestic magazine for women and the family ever published at the low price of 50 cents per year. It appears each month in a beautiful and artistic cover printed in colors and engraved from new designs furnished by artists of ability and prominence. DECEMBER (CHRISTMAS) NUMBER NOW READY

FITZ PUTS GARDNER ALL BUT OUT, THEN TAKES THE BIG BATTLE ON POINTS

"The Grand Old Man," Though His Punches Are Weaker Than in Years Gone By, Is Still the Crafty Master of the Ring.

GARDNER IS DOWN TWICE IN A ROUND

Crowd Hisses Slow Work, but Cheers Like Mad When Bob Fights Viciously and Greets Decision With Shouts of Satisfaction.

BY YOUNG CORBETT,
World's Featherweight Champion.
(Reported especially for the Post-Dispatch.)

MECHANICS' PAVILION, SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 26.—Old man Fitzsimmons, the eighth wonder of the world, went 20 rounds here last night and took a decision and a title away from the much touted light heavyweight champion of the world, George Gardner of Lowell, Mass.

It was a washerwoman fight and brought out three things very plainly—that Gardner has been very much overrated; that Fitzsimmons' "punch" has taken to the tall grass; that "Old Man Fitz" is a myth. Barring the loss of his punch, he's younger than ever.

Gardner's youth and strength and much vaunted cleverness counted little against the ring generalship, the blocking and stalling and backing and filling of lanky Robert.

Referee Eddie Graney's decision was the only one possible. Fitz won, and won on the bit all the way. The "wise money" that forced the odds against the old man from 10 to 6 back to 10 to 9 turned out to be "foolish money."

Gardner's followers looked as wise as a tree full of owls all day yesterday. After it was all over you couldn't find a Gardner man in Frisco.

While it was not a good fight, I cannot say that it was really a very bad one. It was brilliant at times, full of dash and vim and go, and Bob waded in with all his old spirit.

Gardner Is Not Clever.

Gardner was not clever, his blows lacked force, his footwork was bad, his generalship a zero, his blocking way below the work put up by the great gladiator who faced him.

The crowd stamped the battle a bad one by hissing the men for the freight-car pace, but at that you cannot go much by crowds. If they don't see much they think they have been skinned at the box office.

It seemed to me, watching the battle round by round at the ringside that Fitz had everything in his makeup as a fighter that he used to have with the exception of his death-dealing punch.

One could not picture a more healthy fighter than Fitzsimmons. He fought as if in a boxing school. He had Gardner going in the fourth round and again and again had him on uneasy street and yet never for a moment did he lose his cunning or the wonderful coolness that has marked his great ring career.

Then, later on, when he found he had his slim-legged opponent beaten to a standstill, he was the same old Foxy Fitz. He had the decision in hand and he meant to keep it, and keep it he did.

The crowd was not what it was expected to be when the time came for the battle. It was a "Frisco crowd" and a Frisco crowd only. The out-of-town patrons of the game were not on hand.

Spots of bare dashed the towering side of the Yosemite Club's arena when the gong rang for the big battle. I was surprised at the slimness of the crowd.

Small Crowd, but a Fitz Crowd

I should say there were about 6000 present. It was a Fitzsimmons crowd, although there were wads of money always in sight on Gardner.

It was 10 to 7 on the speckled beauty as the war started. As a betting proposition the fight was a good one, and that let it out. Fitz and Gardner both entered the clubhouse at about the same time. Fitz was anxious to get into the ring. He received a tremendous ovation. The crowd rose as one man to do homage to the great old warrior.

Trailing "Ruby" Robert were his seconds, Billy Delaney, Joe Kennedy and Sam Berger.

Then came Gardner, forcing his way to the ringside through the crowd that lined the aisles. Alec Greggains, Harry Foley and Dave Barry were in his corner. Eddie Graney called them to the center of the ring, and after the introduction gave them their instructions. Then he waved them to their corners. As they turned a hush fell on the mob of modern Romans. Then clang!

CLANG! OFF TO BATTLE!

The gong had started them on their journey for the title. Fitz, to the surprise of all, started off to fight very carefully. He was feeling out the youngster before him. The round ended with very little execution, and Fitzsimmons on the defensive.

The second session saw Gardner after the "grand old man." He forced the fighting from gong to gong. It was his one and only round.

The third round slipped into the past, and then came a little high and lofty tumbling that caught Mr. Gardner in the air and almost settled the battle then and there. Fitz had him on the floor twice in the fourth round. Once the count of seven was tolled off before he struggled to his feet, and the second time he flopped all over the floor.

The crowd was crazy, cheer after cheer shook the building as Fitz coolly walked to his corner at the end of the round.

Gardner Takes Count to "Nine."

It looked to be all over but the shouting. Bang! they dashed out of their corners for the next session and at the first pop out of the gun over went Gardner, like a shot out of a box, to the far side of the ring. He reeled as far as he could go and then found the canvas with a dull thud.

"Seven, eight, nine," was counted before he blindly got his feet under him.

Fitz carried the fight to him, but Gardner lunged into a clinch.

The "Sage of Bath Beach" shook him off, as a terrier would a rat. As he fell away that awful right of Fitz's crossed over. It was the nickels had it landed. But it was short, and Gardner was saved from the land of dreams.

As it was, Gardner managed to shake himself together, collect his wits and do an Arthur Duffy for the rest of the round. That saved his scalp.

Then something funny happened. Fitz suddenly slowed up. Was he tired? If so, he went so very suddenly. Gardner was "all in." There was no fight in him, and had Fitz carried his old-time desperate charge to him the Lowell man must have gone out.

Grand Old Man Slackens His Pace

But Fitz kept away, and, with Gardner sprinting, was content to timely trail in his footstep. The crowd hissed. Fitz smiled, slackened his pace, and, catching Gardner, hooked a left to his head that surely must have given him a headache. Then came the bell, and the dying echoes of that gong marked the death of any real hard fighting.

It was often a good fight after that, but never a brilliant one.

Fitz seemed tired and leg-weary up to the eleventh round and Gardner's fight had all gone a-gleaming in those fatal fourth and fifth rounds.

Another "Knockout" in Tenth Round.

In the tenth round, Fitz again scored a knockout, but his blows all seemed to be too high. It looked as if he had lost his judge of distance, he found Gardner's head when he was after the jaw.

The thirteenth and fourteenth rounds found George again resting on the resin. Five seconds he stayed there in the fourteenth and was glad to take the rest.

From then on Fitz appeared glad to let the battle drag on and gather in the title and shekels, which he knew only an accident could take away from him. And thus the "grand old man" won again.

It was not a fight to look at. Fitz claimed he hurt his arm, and if so his showing was the more wonderful.

Gardner's best punch was a straight left to the nose and it should not carry much weight to stop the old man in his mad rush to end the contest with a knockout.

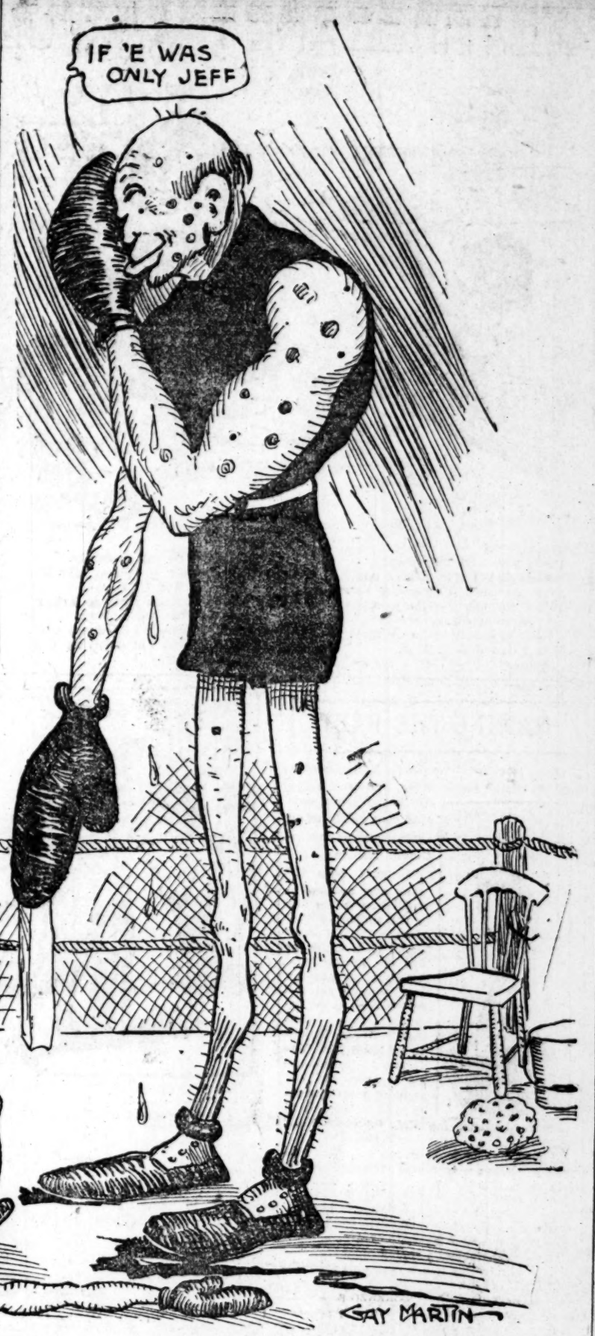
FITZ SAYS GARDENER IS GAME.

"Gardner is a good, game fighter. He fought well and took some punching. I guess he doesn't think I am an old man now. I wasn't as strong in this fight as I have been in others, but I was good enough to win.—Robert Fitzsimmons.

GARDNER HAS NO EXCUSES.

"To the victor belongs the credit, and I must congratulate Fitzsimmons. He is a grand old fighter, better than I expected to find. The weight I had to make weakened me a bit, and that is the only excuse I can make for defeat."—George Gardner.



BY JAMES J. JEFFRIES,
World's Heavyweight Champion.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Fitz won, but hardly in as handy fashion as I expected. He brought his great generalship into play by leading in the first rounds, thereby getting the decision well in hand. There is no doubt but he would have taken advantage of a knockout blow had the opportunity presented itself in the early stages.

Fitz proved himself a wonder by going the 20 rounds at the fast paces set by himself and Gardner.

I honestly did not think he could go that far, and I was only one of many thousands who thought the same way.

But Fitzsimmons seemed to grow stronger all the time. That fourth round was the only one that likely took the steam out of Gardner to a great extent.

Gardner Displayed Much Cleverness.

Gardner displayed a great deal of cleverness in being able to offset Fitz's terrible onslaughts.

Gardner certainly proved himself a game fellow, and during the contest he must have received a great deal of punishment.

Of course there is no question but that Fitz's age was a great factor, but he did surprisingly well to go as well as he did for twenty rounds. I realize that Gardner is a good, strong young and very able fighter.

I believe now that there might have been some truth in the statement issued from his training camp relative to his condition and his feet being in bad shape. There is no doubt that Fitz did a great deal of training, as I have seen him on the scales in street attire weighing as much as 200 pounds.

Training to 161 pounds was a hard task. In taking off such a great amount of weight he no doubt impaired his chances more or less.

Lost Punching Power With Weight.

Fitz displayed great generalship in the contest and at this stage of life he certainly proved himself a grand old warrior.

I do not know Gardner, but he certainly proved himself a great fighter. I am glad my old friend and traveling companion of heretofore won his mill.

If such a thing as a contest between Fitz and Corbett should be arranged, I certainly would like to see it. It would be one of the greatest fights of the century.

Had Gardner won and if he thought he had a chance for the championship and the opinion of the press and public warranted it, I should have given him the first opportunity.

BY JAMES J. CORBETT,
Ex-Champion Heavyweight of the World.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—The finish of the fight fulfills my predictions that Fitz has lost his punch. He has certainly been a game old stager, and has fought with all the still smoldering energy that he possessed. He held off his years better than any man the past quarter of a century has seen in the ring, but he had to sag. My early forecast of the fight was that Gardner would win. I thought he was a better man than he showed himself to be. With almost twenty years to the good and plenty of muscle and beef, I thought he would pound Fitz down and I put up money on the younger man.

Thought Fight Would Be a Short One.

Later, judging from the reports from the West, I thought Bob had regained some of his wonderful speed and was in his old killing style. I figured it out that he still had some of the steam in his punch, and aided by his superior skill and cleverness would go in and put Gardner out in the early rounds of the fight.

His skill certainly showed when he sent his opponent time and again to the floor, but he had not his old keep-at-it powers to make a finish of it. As soon as he made a splendid stroke he seemed to lose all his old finishing force, and had to begin all over again. This failure to take advantage of his advantage was what prolonged the fight.

Fitzsimmons Weakened by Reducing Weight.

I think that Fitz and I are about the only two men outside of Jeffries, the champion, who would make a great match in the heavy weight class. Fitz was weakened by reducing himself to such a light weight, and that may have been the chief disadvantage he labored under in last night's fight.

I think Fitz and I will be matched to fight sometime next summer after my theatrical season is over.

I lost $1000 on the fight because I thought Gardner had a great chance on account of his youth, and this contest proved that he is a strong, game young fellow and deserves a lot of credit.

He gave me a good run for my money and I am perfectly satisfied.

STORY OF THE BATTLE TOLD BY ROUNDS.

ROUND 1. They went to the center quickly and indulged in sparring. Gardner danced lively and ducked a vicious left for the jaw. They came together without result, and Fitzsimmons missed a left swing for the jaw and then evaded a similar blow from Gardner. Fitz sent a straight left high on the chest. The fighting was slow, both men exercising great care. Gardner was short with a right uppercut for the jaw. Both then missed lefts for the head, and Gardner received a stinging straight left to the jaw. Fitz followed this with another left to the jaw and a right to the stomach. Fitz sent Gardner's head back with a left hook to the jaw. Gardner then planted a straight left to the face. Fitz blocked a hard left for the stomach as the bell rang. The advantage was slightly with Fitzsimmons, who received absolutely no attention from his seconds as he went to his corner. Fitz appeared to be suffering from a cold.

ROUND 2. After considerable sparring both missed lefts for the body. Fitz got in a light left to the head and Gardner landed twice on the Australian's kidneys with right. Gardner drove his right twice to the body and received a left to the body and a right to the jaw in return. Gardner sent his right to the body and Fitz slipped to the floor as he backed from a right swing. Bob drove a straight left to the stomach and missed a right for the jaw. Bob then planted his left to the body and a right swing to the jaw. Gardner sent in a right and left forcefully to the body and Fitz retaliated with a right and left to the jaw as the bell sounded. This round was comparatively even, the advantage, if any, being with Gardner. There was not much force to most of the blows landed.

ROUND 3. Gardner was short with a left for the body and a moment later drove a hard right to the Cornishman's ribs. They then exchanged blows to the body. Fitz missed a left swing for the face and was met with a straight right to the body. Gardner followed it with a right swing to the ribs and two rights to the kidneys. Gardner sent in left and right to the jaw. Fitz was trying occasional swings and did not do much sparring. He sent a straight left to Gardner's face and missed another for the same place. Fitz swung a terrific right for the jaw and rushed Gardner to the ropes. Fitz put left to the face and a right to the body. Gardner fighting back hard. Fitz gave a flash of his old fire in this round and drew Gardner on. This was Fitz's round. He again received no attention from his second at the round's conclusion.

RONUD 4—Fitz immediately swung a right to the jaw, and they mixed it. Bob ducking and blocking cleverly. Fitz stood back and then tried left and right for the jaw, but was blocked. He repeated the attempt a moment later, but for seven seconds with two straight left to the jaw. Fitz then sent Gardner down for se evnseconds with two straight lefts to the jaw. Gardner came up fighting wildly. Fitz forced him to the ropes with a straight left to the jaw, sending Gardner against the ropes. Fitz then hooked a vicious right to the jaw and Gardner went to the floor. He came up and Fitz planted several frightful lefts and rights to the face and body that sent the Lowell man to his corner groggy. The turmoil for Fitz at this stage was tremendous. Fitz was evry cool. He nearly had Gardner out twice.

Gardner Is All but Out.

ROUND 5—Fitz landed a left swing to the jaw and Gardner went down for the count of nine. Fitz chased him around the ring and had Gardner stalling. Fitz forced Gardner to the ropes with a left to the jaw and a right hook to the body. Fitz looked a bit tired, but put in a stiff left to the body. They came to a mixup. Gardner being desperate and rushing. He was bleeding from the nose. Fitz swung left and right to the face and forced Gardner to a clinch. Fitz laughed and tried to create an impression of being tired. Gardner drove in two lefts and a right to the body. As the gong rang Gardner put in left and right to the body without apparent damage. Fitz has the crowd guessing as to whether he is shamming or actually tired.

ROUND 6.—Fitz missed a right swing for the head and backed away from Gardner. Fitz missed another left for the head and then sent in a straight right to the head as Gardner was going away. Fitz took a couple of left jabs to the face in order to get in a right, but he was short. Fitz cleverly evaded several right and lefts for the body and then mixed it in a corner, fighting tamely. Both exchanged straight lefts to the face and Gardner drove a straight right to the body. The crowd hissed at the tameness of the fighting. After a mix-up Fitz caught Gardner with left and right to the face, cutting Gardner's eye open. Gardner got in a straight left to the stomach at the clang of the bell.

ROUND 7.—Fitz rushed in and swung hard with left and right to the head. He fought fiercely in a mix-up and Fitz was hissed for holding on. Gardner missed a hard right swing for the jaw. Fitz swung left hard to the jaw and Gordner countered with right to the jaw and left to the body. Gardner missed right uppercut for the jaw and chased Fitz to a corner without landing a blow. Fitz then missed a left swing for the jaw. Both men looked very tired at this stage. They got to close quarters and both tried lefts and rights for the body, but the efforts were feeble. The crowd found both men fighting tamely, with the crowd jeering and urging them on. Fitz appears to be losing his speed, and seems content with acting more on the defensive.

ROUND 8. Both were short with lefts for the face. Fitz feinted with right and put a good left to the face. The Australian was backing away, allowing Gardner to do the leading. Gardner finally planted left and right to the stomach and a left hook lightly to the face. Gardner blocked a vicious left for the jaw and sent a straight left lightly to the face. Fitz missed left and right swings for the body and they came to a clinch in Gardner's corner. Fitz sent Gardner against the ropes with left and right to the jaw and then put a left to the jaw and a right to the body. Gardner then clinched and blocked a right and left uppercut for the jaw. Fitz improved again in this round and had the advantage.

ROUND 9. The Cornishman backed away, allowing Gardner to do the leading. Gardner was short with left for the head and missed a right swing for the body. Fitz then met him with a left hook to the jaw and danced away as the Lowell pugilist chased him around the ring. Fitz missed a hard left swing for the body. Gardner continued to chase Fitz around the ring, but did not succeed in landing. Fitz finally waded in and forced Gardner to the ropes, but more from wrestling than from blows. Gardner swung a good right to the kidneys and swung a right to the jaw as the bell sounded, but it was a glancing blow and Fitz only smiled. Fitz has slowed up considerably but is evidently laying for his famous knockout punch.

ROUND 11. Fitz caught Gardner with a right to the stomach and then hooked him viciously with a left on the wind. Fitz fought hard but Gardner blocked him. Gardner's punches seemed to lack force. Gardner swung his left to the body and backed away from two left swings for the face. Fitz jolted Gardner with a straight left to the stomach and Fitz cleverly blocked Gardner's attempts. Fitz took most of the light blows, but blocked the hard ones. Gardner sent a straight right to the face but Fitz sailed in with a left swing to the jaw, staggering Gardner. The gong rang at this stage. Fitz had the advantage of the round.

ROUND 12. Fitz as usual backed away. They came together in a mixup, but no damage was done. Gardner jabbed a left into Fitz's face, and clinged in as the latter tried a straight left for the jaw. The pace again slowed up and the crowd yelled at the contestants. Fitz shifted and brought a hard left swing to the jaw. He tried to follow with a right, but missed his mark. Fitz then swung for the head, but missed. Gardner landed a few light blows on Fitz, but Fitz took them, at the same time trying to bring his right to play. Gardner's blows were very light. As yet he has failed to land a telling blow on the lanky Australian.

ROUND 13. Fitz missed a left swing for the left and received straight left on the mouth. Gardner then poked Fitz in the stomach with a straight left and chased Fitz into a corner. They danced around trying for fully a minute without a blow being landed. Gardner kept pegging away at Fitz, but the latter easily got out of harm's way. Finally Fitz brought his right to the body and a left to the nose. Gardner sent in two straight lefts to the face and a light left to the body, but there was little force to them. Just as the round closed Fitz swung a hard right to the jaw, sending Gardner to the floor. He was up within two seconds and showed no effects of the blow as he took his corner.

ROUND 14. Gardner was short with a straight left for the body. Fitz feinted with right and sent two lefts to the jaw. He followed it with a hard left hook to the jaw and a hard right to the body. Swinging fiercely, he sent the Lowell man to the floor for five seconds. Fitz then missed a fearful right swing for the jaw and chased Gardner against the ropes trying to put in a vital blow, but his efforts were wild. Gardner looked groggy and stalled repeatedly. The blood was streaming from his nose and as they went to a clinch the crowd hissed Gardner for hitting in the clinch. Fitz swung his right to the jaw and sent Gardner against the ropes. He followed him around the ring and missed a right swing that would have ended the fight had it landed, as the bell rang. Gardner went to his corner groggy. Fitz appeared cool and smiled at his friends.

ROUND 15. Fitz swung with left and missed. Then they both went to a clinch. Emerging, Fitz missed a hard swing for the jaw and Gardner succeeded in getting a glancing left to the jaw. Fitz drove his right to the body and then shifted it to the head and cleverly evaded counters. Fitz fought carefully and made his blows count when he reached the Lowell man's anatomy. Fitz landed a left and right swing to the jaw and just missed another for the same place. Fitz jarred Gardner with a hard right swing to the jaw and a left hook to the body. Gardner again stalled. Fitz missed another right swing for the jaw and as they came together Gardner got in a straight left to the face. This was Fitz's round.

ROUND 16. Gardner got in a left and right on Bob's face and forced him to a corner. Fitz came back with a stinging straight left for the face. Fitz nursed his strength carefully and made no unnecessary moves. Fitz swung hard with right for the jaw, but Gardner ducked it. Gardner mixed it, but Fitz caught him with short-arm left to the face. Gardner then hooked his left to Fitz's stomach. Fitz caught Gardner on the head with a hard right swing and covered up well. Gardner swung right to the jaw at the end of the round, but the force was slight. Gardner has been putting up a very disappointing fight.

Bob Wears a Contented Smile.

ROUND 17. They spent much time in desultory sparring, Fitz looking for an opening. Fitz got in a light left to the face and both missed rights for the body. Fitz was short with a straight left for the body and Gardner put in a right to the head and a left to the face, forcing Fitz to the ropes. No harm was done, however, the blows being weak. Fitz missed a hard left hook for the body and they went to a mix-up in which the Australian did some clever blocking. Gardner got his left high on the body and Fitz missed left swings for the jaw and body. Gardner sent in a hard right to the jaw at the end of the round. It was the hardest blow Gardner had turned loose during the fight, but not hard enough to worry Fitz, who went to his corner smiling.

ROUND 18. Gardner forced Fitz about the ring, missing right and left swings for the jaw. Fitzsimmons tried a left swing for the jaw, but Gardner got inside it and tried a right hook for the body, but Bob blocked it. Gardner swung a right to the face lightly. Bob feinted with right and swung a vicious left for the jaw, but missed. He then swung hard with right, but received a left hook to the jaw that made him wince. Fitz backed away and Gardner got in a glancing left to the face. Fitz got in two rights hard to the jaw as they closed in, and blocked a right uppercut for the jaw.

ROUND 19. Gardner forced Fitz to the ropes, but Fitz came back with a left to the head. Gardner then slipped to the floor, but Fitz assisted him to his feet. Gardner sent a straight left to Fitz's nose and followed it with two more weak lefts to the face, Fitz smiling. Fitz swung a left for the head, but it went around Gardner's head. Fitz missed a swing for the head and Gardner rushed in and got left and right on the body. Gardner then hit Fitz rather low and was cautioned by the referee. Gardner then got in several good rights to the body, and Fitz sent him back with a right swing to the head. The bell rang with Gardner fighting fiercely, and he succeeded in landing several short arm lefts to Fitz's stomach. As usual they were weak.

Cheers Follow Fitz Victory.

ROUND 20. Fitz missed a straight left for the face and they went to a clinch.

Fitz led with left for the face. In a mixup Gardner bombarded at Fitz's stomach, but the blows were all blocked. Gardner got in a light left to the stomach and blocked two left swings for the body. Gardner swung a right to the body and in a mixup landed several rights and lefts to the body. They clinched and the referee could hardly separate them. Fitz sent straight left to the face and both clung to each other, Gardner doing most of the hanging on. Gardner was clinging to Fitz and Referee Graney could not separate them as the final gong rang. Graney promptly gave the decision to Fitz and it was greeted with cheers.

HARRY CORBETT SAYS IT WAS A TAME CONTEST.

By Harry Corbett.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 26.—The battle furnished by Fitzsimmons and Gardner was one of the tamest contests between big men that I really believe I ever witnessed. I looked for a much harder fight from the men. Fitz certainly weakened himself by fighting at so low a weight. I think he should never again attempt to make weight for any fight. Gardner's showing was very weak indeed. He had no steam in his punches. His blows would not have feazed a lightweight.

JACK O'BRIEN DECLARES HE CAN BEAT BOTH MEN.

By Philadelphia Jack O'Brien.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 26.—After the fight which Fitzsimmons and Gardner made last night, I firmly believe I can beat both of them.

The men, in my opinion, fought a poor fight. I don't mean by that to take any credit from Fitzsimmons, as I think it would not be right to do so, owing to his age.

Fitz is certainly one of the best ring generals I ever saw fight. He always had his head with him, and for the last ten rounds of the fight he did not make any moves which would give Gardner a chance to beat him. I would like to fight Fitzsimmons. If I ever do meet him, I think I will stop him. Gardner, I think, is a much overrated fighter.

SUPREME COURT SUSTAINS SUIT AGAINST BOOKMAKERS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Peter de Lacy and his counsel have scored the first point today in their fight against the racetrack bookmakers. The Supreme Court yesterday handed in two opinions, one of which reverses the decision made by Civil Justice Murray, dismissing a suit brought by Raymond P. Moulton to recover $50 which he asserted he lost when he bet on the horse Squid at the Morris Park track. Moulton asserted that the bet was made with William J. Torpie, a bookmaker at the track.

Moulton sued Torpie and the Westchester Racing Association. Justice Murray dismissed the suit against both the defendants. The Supreme Court sustained him in dismissing the suit against the Westchester Racing Association on the ground that the association was not connected, by evidence, with the wager, but reversed his decision dismissing the suit against the bookmaker and ordered a new trial.

ALWAYS TIRED NEVER RESTED

To be tired out from hard work or bodily exercise is natural and rest is the remedy, but there is an exhaustion without physical exertion and a tired never-rested feeling—a weariness without work that is unnatural and shows some serious disorder is threatening the health. One of the chief causes of that "Always-tired, never-rested condition" is impure blood and bad circulation. Unless the body is nourished with rich, pure blood there is lack of nervous force, the muscles become weak, the digestion impaired, and general disorder occurs throughout the system. Debility, insomnia, nervousness, indigestion, dyspepsia, loss of appetite, strength and energy, and the hundreds of little ailments we often have are due directly to a bad condition of the blood and circulation, and the quickest way to get rid of them is by purifying and building up the blood, and for this purpose no remedy equals S. S. S., which contains the best ingredients for cleansing the blood and toning up the system. It is a vegetable blood purifier and tonic combined, that enriches the blood and through it the entire system is nourished and refreshing sleep comes to the tired, never-rested, body.

For over four years I suffered with general debility, causing a thorough breaking down of my system. My cousin, who had been benefited by S. S. S., told me about it. I tried it and it cured me. I heartily recommend S. S. S. to all who may feel the need of a thoroughly good blood tonic.
Yours truly,

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

THE ORIGIN, STAGES, DEATH-DEALING COURSE AND CERTAIN CURE FOR

BLOOD POISON

My Serum Specific Treatment for Syphilis is the only remedy known to absolutely cure the disease, removing every trace of poisonous taint and rebuilding the entire system from the damaging effects of Mercury and Potash, leaving the patient with new flesh, new blood, new bones and in perfect health.

My method of curing Blood Poison is by a Specific Serum that I introduce into the blood by subcutaneous injection (hypodermic), and internally, and by its antagonism to the virus of blood poison the taint is ejected from the body as well as the counteraction and removal of the mercury and potash poisoning. My serum treatment reaches the corpuscles of the blood, disorganizes, neutralizes and expels all poison from the system, and the corpuscles are renewed with fresh, pure blood, which supplies the tissues that rebuild the entire human organism, so that the whole body is restored to its normal size, strength and soundness. I can offer no better evidence of the reliability that I claim for Specific Serum than the many I have cured, some of them bedfast, body a shield of blood-poison sores, loss of eyesight, hair and eyebrows, or some vital organ, locomotor ataxia, and apparently doomed; and within three months after beginning my course of treatment they are entirely cured, robust and healthy, without a symptom ever recurring at any time. The positive effects of S. Specific Serum are noticeable immediately, as the hair resumes its growth, all manifestations of the disease disappear, the patient begins to increase in weight by the addition of sound, healthy flesh, the skin gets clear and rosy by being supplied with pure, rich blood and in ordinary cases in one month after commencing the victim feels that his burden of disease is lifted, and pains are no more.

CHAS. A. DUFF, M. D.

tributed to High's score. Smith never threatened to tally.

SECOND HALF.

The complexion of things changed completely in the second period. Smith, working two men, Krutzsch and Stanard, practically won the game by rushing them.

Smith kicked off to High's 30-yard line. High found it hard going and would probably have lost the ball on downs had not Hoevel fumbled it. Smith got the ball, and then something started. Krutzsch smashed through on two successive plunges—bringing the ball within the 25-yard line, where mass plays were in order.

Stannard, who was running the team after Nolte's retirement in the second half, worked a series of plays with himself as the center that broke down High's defense.

The series consisted in dropping Stanard back of the line on the left side. From this point two straight bucks, a cross buck and attacks on two ends with Stanard interfering, were played successfully. The big 200 pounds of Stanard smashed down the field, the big man going over on a straight line buck after earning all the ground from the 20-yard line.

Little Curby kicked an easy goal. Score, High 11, Smith 6.

Smith's superiority soon showed still further. High insisted that Smith kick off and the ball went in touch. From the 25-yard line Robinson punted 20 yards and the ball was on High's 45-yard line.

Smith here forced the ball steadily up the field, Krutsch and Hellman being the most important ground gainers up to the 25-yard line.

Here Stanard was brought into play and gruelling work netted 29 yards. At the five-yard line High held for downs. High could not gain and was forced to punt. Hoevel was through like a flash and blocked Robinson's punt. Krutsch fell on the ball and Curby kicked a hard goal. Score, 12 for Smith and 11 for High.

Smith scored another touchdown five minutes later, when the ball had been worked down the field on excellent work by Krutsch and Hellman. The latter made several good end runs, while Krutsch pounded the line for big gains.

Inside the 35-yard mark, Shock got away through High's right tackle and squirmed through a broken field over the line, Curby kicking goal. Score 18 to 11 for Smith.

In the remaining period of play, Smith again worked the ball down toward High's goal. With an easy try for goal Curby was dropped back for a goal from the field, but the High men were through and blocked his attempt. It was High's ball. The red and black went down the field with it as though a score were in sight. Weber made several fine runs, but the time was called just as the Smith eleven seemed about to give way for a score.

RECORD CROWD OUT AT CHICAGO

20,000 Enthusiasts on Hand to See Contest Between Michigan and Maroons

MARSHALL FIELD, CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—All attendance records at Marshall Field were broken today when Chicago and Michigan appeared on the gridiron to play the annual game. A heavy snowstorm that almost blinded patrons of the morning game between Carlisle and Northwestern cleared up this afternoon the pleasure of 20,000 enthusiasts who had assembled to witness what they thought would be the best football battle the Maroons and Maize and blue had ever had.

There was no feeling of over-confidence in the Wolverine camp, despite the changes that Coach Stagg had to make in his line for the climax contest. "Michigan remembers that Chicago always fights hard against the maise and blue," said Coach Yost. "The advantage of the snow-covered field, if any, should be with Stagg's veterans. The throng will know there has been a good football contest by nightfall."

The whole idea of Stagg's preparation for the game that will have an important bearing on the Western championship has been to develop a defense that could withstand the attacks of Yost's speedy and effective backs and Tackle Maddock's terrific smashes. It was freely predicted, however, by those who had kept in touch with the Maroons' practice that the Michigan center trio should have an advantage.

In average weight Chicago has a distinct advantage over her rival. The Maroon line, strong in veterans despite the absence of guard Ahlsede, outweighs the Michigan line. Heston, Longman and Graves, the Yost backs, outweights the Maroons. It was after 2 o'clock before the teams appeared. The only thing to lower the spirits of the Maroon adherents was the appearance of Coach Stagg in a closed carriage, the only one allowed on the field. The veteran Maroon leader had a high fever last night, and only his desire to see his charges and cheer them on to greater efforts permitted him to override his physician's orders to remain indoors.

The teams began the game as follows:

Chicago.	Position.	Michigan.
Parry (198)	Left tackle	Curtis (208)
Hill (217)	Left guard	Scholte (192)
Ellsworth (196)	Center	Gregory (194)
Tobin (194)	Right guard	Gooding (192)
R. Maxwell (237)	Right tackle	Maddock (190)

Dartmouth Beats Brown.

MANCHESTER, N. H., Nov. 26.—Final score: Dartmouth, 62; Brown, 0.

PENNSY AND CORNELL WEAK.

They Meet at Franklin Field Under Ideal Weather Conditions.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 26.—Pennsylvania and Cornell met on Franklin Field this afternoon in their annual football contest. The day was ideal for football. Both teams have been weakened by the loss of players—Cornell by Davitt's assistance at center, and Pennsylvania by Smith's vacancy at fullback. A close game is looked for.

SETTLEMENT URGED BY HEIRS.

Fortune Left by C. B. Dreisoerner to Be Divided Soon.

C. B. Dreisoerner, a former deputy sheriff of Alton, and other Alton relatievs of the late Jacob Dreisoerner, who died in St. Louis a little more than a year ago, are making an effort to hasten the settlement of the estate in accordance with the will. A final settlement is expected to be reached next week.

Dreisoerner was a bachelor, an inventor and decidedly peculiar in many ways. He was a great believer in the possibilities of the air ship, and was at work on one with which he expected to compete for the $100,000 prize offered by the World's Fair management when attacked by his last illness.

BARRETT SENTENCE WILL BE DEFERRED

"Al" Morrow Receives Many Congratulations on His Acquittal by Judge Adams.

NO PROOF OF WRONGDOING

Indictment of Barrett on Forgery Charge Is Plainly Suggested by Court.

Following the acquittal of "Al" Morrow, stenographer to Gov. Dockery, of charges of implication in naturalization frauds, Judge Adams declined to pass sentence on Thomas E. Barrett, Morrow's co-defendant, also acquitted, but who was convicted last week with John P. Dolan and Frank Garrett on a similar charge.

Judge Adams stated that conclusive evidence of forgery had been adduced in the two trials against Barrett, and that the court could not but take cognizance of it.

District Attorney Dyer, who had moved to have Barrett sentenced, replied that offenses of that character had been committed in 1902, upon which indictments might be returned.

Morrow was cleared of all charges against him when the district attorney announced that he would dismiss the nine other indictments against Morrow and Barrett, which were based upon the same allegations as those upon which the conspiracy charge had been made.

In taking the case from the jury and discharging Morrow and Barrett, as told in late editions of Wednesday's Post-Dispatch, Judge Adams said the case against Morrow was based upon conjecture, and that there was no evidence to show that in accepting a list of names he had the purpose of fraudulently obtaining naturalization papers.

Upon the adjournment of court congratulations were extended to Morrow by his friends, among them Senator Cockrell and Gov. Dockery.

His wife, who had been in constant attendance at the trial, left the courtroom with him in a few moments.

Thought Poison Was Whisky.

Abraham Groose of 620 South Second street is dead from dringing carbolic acid. His wife says she saw him drinking it, but thought it was whisky, and declares her belief that Groose also thought he was drinking whisky. An inquest will be held.

MRS. AYER'S BODY TO BE CREMATED

Ashes Will Be Interred in Chicago, the Scene of Great Social Triumphs.

"LIFT UP" WAS HER RELIGION

For Her to Hear of Case of Need Was to Relieve Whether It Involved Stranger or Friend.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—The body of Mrs. Harriet Hubbard Ayer is to be cremated and the ashes will be buried in Graceland Cemetery, Chicago.

A funeral service will be held in Old Trinity at 10 o'clock Friday morning.

Today's papers print much about the life and achievements of this remarkable American woman. Few of her sisters accomplished as much. Although 50 years old, she had the ideas, appearance and energy of a woman 15 years younger.

When Mrs. Ayer was the leader of Chicago's most exclusive society, she lived in one of the most magnificent homes in Chicago.

At the time of the great fire she sent all of her horses and carriages to the rescue of families threatened with death in the flames. She and her household were presently cut off and probably would have perished but for their rescue by a grateful carman to whom Mrs. Ayer had recently given aid.

Mrs. Ayer was a graduate chemist of one of the best Paris schools, and an expert physiognomist. She had translated several books from the French.

It is seldom that one woman has so thoroughly commanded the respect and admiration of the reading public, as well as the love and friendship of all who came within the wide radius of her personal influence.

For her to hear of a case of need was to relieve it, it mattered not whether its object were a friend or a total stranger. She had often said that her religion in life might be summed up in just two words, "Lift up." She said she could always see the good that was in people, but never the bad.

HOW WAS SAND BAR BUILT?

Board of Education Contends for Fixed Land Line.

The board of education as plaintiffs in the suit to gain title to the "made land" on the river front in North St. Louis, is expected to introduce the land grant by which Spain transferred the land now the state of Missouri to the United States for interpretation when the hearing of the test cases is resumed Monday.

By this grant the board of education will endeavor to show that the eastern border of the grant was a fixed line, a contention which the defendant claimants of the property will meet by seeking to show that the grant names the west bank of the Mississippi river as the line.

Several witnesses testified as to the existence of the sandbar some 25 feet from the St. Louis bank of the river many years ago, before the court adjourned for the Thanksgiving holidays. William A. Ramsey, who took up residence in North St. Louis 52 years ago, when but 12 years old, testified that he remembered the sandbar well. It was visible during low water and covered during high water.

John E. Luebben, aged 51, a river man since 1870, testified as to the existence of the sandbar and to the assistance in the filling-up process between the bar and the main land by dykes built by the city. The accretions had been gradual, he said. Other residents who have known the river front many years will testify during the hearing.

MANY HEAR ARCHBISHOP HARTY

Manila Prelate Will Hold Farewell Services at St. Leo's Next Sunday

Archbishop J. J. Harty preached the sermon on the reasons for Thanksgiving at St. Leo's Church Thursday morning. The address was informal, and recited the reasons that the country, and St. Leo's parish particularly, had for thankfulness.

The services were incident to the solemn high mass, in which Mgr. Fowler was celebrant, Fr. Delaney deacon, Fr. Lloyd subdeacon, and Fr. Godfrey master of ceremonies.

The church was crowded with auditors, many of whom were from outside of the parish.

Archbishop Harty will leave St. Louis for his new post as archbishop of Manila Monday night. He will say farewell to his old parish at the regular Sunday services, at all of which he will officiate. There is a plan for a reception to his parishioners, to be given Sunday night, but this has not been fully decided upon.

Thursday evening Archbishop Harty will be the guest of honor at a banquet at the Planters'. A large reception in his honor was held at St. Louis University Wednesday night.

FOUND MOTHER DEAD AT HOME.

Aged Woman Had Bled to Death While Alone in House.

When Miss Emma Henninger returned to her home at 2115 Keokuk street Wednesday evening, she found her mother, Mrs. Katherine Henninger, dead.

While preparing supper, Mrs. Henninger, who was 64 years old, ruptured partly healed wounds in her legs and, unable to summon help, bled to death.

Her son, who left home several days ago as the result of a quarrel with his sister, is being sought by the police at her request.

BATTLE ROYAL AT WIND-UP OF BALL

Two Stabbings Terminate the Festivities at a North St. Louis Hall.

With two fights, in each of which a participant was stabbed, the ball given by the Sportsman's League at Northwest Hall, Elliot and St. Louis avenues, came to a close at 3:30 o'clock Thursday morning.

Joseph McCann of 4145 Lee avenue, victim of the second fight, is at the City Hospital with a deep knife wound in his left arm. His assailant, whose name is not known to the police, escaped.

William Helten of 3121 Morgan street, victim of the first fight, is locked up with the other three men who took part in it. His companions are Harry Katz of 822 South Sixth street, who is charged with the stabbing; Cyrus Katz, his brother, living at the same address, and John Hughes of 527 South Broadway. Helten has a knife wound across the left cheek.

The first fight began just as the last number of the program was being called. The police investigation into the cause resulted in an avalanche of explanations and accusations which left them at sea, except for the general information that there was a quarrel about partners. In a minute the fight was on, and the four men were giving a very good imitation of a battle royal, without referee or rules. The fight was still in progress when two policemen, attracted by the screams of the women and the shouts of the men, rushed upon the ballroom floor and arrested the participants.

After the fighters had been removed the dance went on. Just as the last strains of the final waltz were dying away, the second fight started. It was not so general nor so long as the first one, and was over before the police came. McCann's assailant escaped.

TOURISTS TO FAIR WILL CROWD SHIPS

Adolphus Busch Predicts an Unprecedented Outpouring of Europeans to America.

Adolphus Busch believes that there will be "an outpouring of Europeans to the World's Fair that will astonish the world."

He declares, in fact, that he believes there are "not enough ships to bring all who want to come to St. Louis from England and the continent in 1904."

Mr. Busch's opinions are based upon six months' personal study of conditions in Europe, and especially in Germany. He returned Wednesday night, with his wife and daughter, Miss Wilhelmina, and Miss Lettie Kluehn, a niece. His special car, Adolphus, was run direct to Busch place.

"Germany will undoubtedly make a much larger and finer display at the World's Fair than she did at the Columbian Exposition," said Mr. Busch. "The manufacturers there are already complaining that they have not enough room assigned them. France's exhibits will eclipse anything she has ever done in that line. All the European nations are desirous of keeping on the most friendly terms with the United States, and the number of visitors they will send over here in 1904 will be in excess of any that were ever turned Americaward."

Mr. Busch and his party reached New York Nov. 10 and spent nearly two weks with friends in the East.

ELOPED WITH THE NURSE.

Illinois Youth Marries Woman Who Attended Father in Last Illness

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 26.—Albert Brainerd, brother of Sheriff Ben Brainerd, and Miss Katie Flaherty, a trained nurse of this city, eloped to Arcola, Ill., today and were married. Brainerd is only 21 years of age, while his bride is nearer 40. The courtship began while Miss Flaherty was acting as nurse for Gideon Brainerd, father of the groom, who died some time ago.

FOUR FIREMEN LOSE THEIR LIVES

Burned to Death While Fighting Flames in an Omaha Building.

OMAHA, Nov. 26.—Four men were burned to death and property loss amounting to $300,000 as a result of a fire which broke out about 3 o'clock this morning in the wholesale grocery house of Allen brothers corner Ninth and Jones streets. In addition to the big five-story building occupied by the Allen Brothers that occupied by the Pacific Storage Co., adjoining, was also consumed, together with most of its contents. The names of the four firemen killed were:
